HERE IT COMES — ANOTHER YEAR OF SCHOOL

It was a scene repeated all over Marin this morning. A line of youngsters, a mother of two, a dog and a few little sisters in nightclothes, too young for school but wanting to get in on the excitement. And, finally, a glimpse of that big, yellow bus coming down the street — in this case, down Greenfield Avenue in San Rafael. And the heads turned as everyone at the bus stop watched another school year bearing down upon them. Students in 13 elementary and high school districts returned to school today, as did students at Indian Valley Colleges in Novato. They join students in six districts, who went back to school last week, plus College of Marin students who have been hitting the books since Aug. 19.

Ford Studying New Pardons In Watergate

All Involved In Scandal Are Being Considered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford has "under study" pardons for all persons involved in the Watergate scandals, a White House spokesman said today.

John W. Hushen, deputy press secretary, told reporters that Ford had authorized him to say that the "entire matter is under study" including pardons for those facing trial on Sept. 30 in the cover-up case.

Hushen was asked for Ford's response to a request from Maureen Dean, wife of the former White House counsel John W. Dean III who went to prison a week ago and who had a major role in breaking open the Watergate cover-up case. Mrs. Dean asked that her husband receive a pardon similar to the one Ford granted former President Nixon last Sunday.

Hushen said Mrs. Dean's request did not prompt the study, but he could give reporters no "further guidance" on how it had come about.

When asked whether the White House was "aware of the impact" that numerous pardons would have in terms of those who face indictment and trial in other non-Watergate cases, Hushen said: "I think those factors are taken into consideration."

Ford's pardon of Nixon set off the first major public protest of the new administration. Numerous congressional leaders — including some leading Republicans — complained that Nixon should have admitted guilt in exchange for a pardon. A crowd of several hundred persons booed Ford in Pittsburgh yesterday, one day after the pardon.

After Ford announced that he had granted absolute pardon to

HOUSING FUNDS

Hilarita Project — Red-Ink Operation?

By JEFF GREER
(First of two articles)

Federal housing funds for the Marin County Housing Authority threaten to run out before the year's end. A repair project on decaying Hilarita housing has been delayed since January. Administrative and legal costs for Marin City have been listed on the authority's books in such a way that it appears Hilarita housing is a red-ink operation.

All this was revealed in the first financial briefing prepared by Victor Hormillosa, the authority's new comptroller, for the authority board.

Hormillosa, hired only 60 days ago to oversee the housing authority's spending, said operating costs for the authority's low-rent projects are 14 per cent too high — or $40,867 above budget — for the first seven months of 1974. The federal money is used to run both Marin City housing and the various senior citizen housing throughout Marin.

The preliminary, unaudited financial report shows, Hormillosa said, that public housing administration is costing $26,699 or 48 per cent, more than the $62,503 the housing authority had planned to spend between Jan. 1 and July 31. Inflation has brought the cost of material and labor used for routine maintenance of the public housing countywide to $28,598 or 27 per cent over the $105,546 budgeted for the period.

By contrast, the leased housing program operated by the agency — also using federal funds from the department of Housing and Urban Development — is $72,081 or 18 per cent less than the $411,467 outlay predicted through July 31.

The Independent-Journal asked Hormillosa and Paul Nixon, acting executive director of the authority, what will be done if the funds run out.

"Send for more money," Nixon replied in a wry voice.

Hormillosa explained that the federally financed projects are budgeted each year on a prediction basis. If expenses run over the amount authorized by HUD, the grant request for the next calendar year is raised proportionately, he said.

In addition to the federally funded low-rent, senior citizen and leased-housing programs, the housing authority has yet another set of books, on the "local fund." This involves mainly rent receipts and expenses at the Hilarita project in Tiburon, where less than 20 tenants remain.

The local fund contains more than $125,000 deposited in interest-bearing accounts, which includes $50,943 the authority received for sale of part of the Hilarita site.

Hormillosa's report on the local fund shows Hilarita tenants paid $19,705 for the fiscal year of 1973-74 that ended June 30. On the books, the tiny apartment project is shown as costing $28,010 to administer, and Hilarita is shown as losing $41,393 during the fiscal year.

Hormillosa and Nixon said, however, that the local fund administrative expenses also include legal fees for the authority's defense against Marin City tenants' lawsuits, $9,858 in payments to the county in lieu of property taxes on all the authority's holdings, and $14,190 in "extraordinary expenses" including the emergency repair to gas and utility lines leading into the few Hilarita apartments not yet razed.

Separate figures on the actual expenses of the Hilarita apartments are not available in Hormillosa's report, but both tenants and outsiders interested in public housing have repeatedly said if Hilarita were accounted for separately it would be seen that the project has made money for the agency because there is no debt on the property.

In response to directors' orders and county requests, the local fund is being privately audited. The report is due by Sept. 30.

Hormillosa said that the low-rent budget is flexible enough that some of the too-high expenses can be traded off against other operations of the authority that haven't spent as much as predicted. The local fund is being used to absorb some of the other expenses, his report indicates.

Housing authority directors, private citizens and some county officials said they aren't entirely satisfied with the financial picture painted in the report, or with other troubles in the county's public housing program.

That's one reason the Marin County Board of Supervisors is stuying possible takeover of both the housing authority and the Marin County Redevelopment Agency.

Narcotics Squad Causes Deadlock

By NELS JOHNSON

San Rafael's bid for a countywide narcotics unit became a burning issue in Fairfax last night as a disjointed town council deadlocked 2-2 on the matter. (Other Fairfax town council stories, page 16.)

A move by Mayor Frank J. Egger and Councilman Priscilla C. Gray to reject the proposal outright was opposed by colleagues Randall Garrison and Jean-Marie Mahoney. Councilman Albert E. Gately was absent.

The council postponed further debate on the proposal to 8 p.m. Oct. 14, when Gately is expected to join the discussion.

The proposal by the City of San Rafael for a countywide narcotics team headed by San Rafael Chief Lawrence Kelly drew a cool response from Town Administrator William E. Haden, who made his first appearance at a council meeting last night.

"I have serious questions on it," said Haden. "On the surface it always sounds good to favor drug enforcement, but there are civil liberty questions. . .I'm very hesitant about a program like this."

Police Chief Charles A. Grasso urged approval of the program, saying that while narcotics agents are "difficult" to supervise, Fairfax is in desperate need of them. Grasso claimed state agents won't come into town even if alerted by local authorities of a large drug operation because "they claim they don't have the manpower."

Fairfax attorney Isidoor Bornstein warned of tactics sometimes employed by drug agents and said that the San Rafael unit would wind up

Pardon Protest Sent To Ford

A protest at the pardoning of Richard M. Nixon has been sent to President Gerald R. Ford by members of the Marin Fellowship of Unitarians.

Twenty-three members of the fellowship at a meeting Sunday voted to send the letter, which said:

"We deplore your actions in granting unconditional pardon to Richard Nixon. This is an outrage to members of the House Judiciary Committee who found him impeachable. Everyone should be equal under the law. There is no reason why the ex-president should be pardoned for crimes for which other persons are serving sentences."

Court Will Not Reopen Alioto Case

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UPI) — The Washington state Supreme Court today refused to rehear the fee-splitting case involving San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto and former Washington attorney general John J. O'Connell.

An order denying the request from Atty. Gen. Slade Gorton was signed by Chief Justice Frank Hale.

Gorton said earlier that if the court denied his request, an appeal to the federal courts would be impossible.

In the 6-3 decision handed down in June, the high court said there was nothing illegal in the more than $800,000 fees-sharing arrangement between O'Connell and Alioto during the antitrust case brought by the state against electrical equipment manufacturers.

Gorton had argued in a 35-page petition for rehearing that the court's decision authorized lower standards of conduct for attorneys.

He charged that the decision "completely emasculated" municipal and state conflict of interest statutes for public officials.

In addition, he said there would be an erosion of public confidence in government, the legal profession and the court if the case is not heard again.

Mill Valley Schools Tax Hike Vote Slated

A proposed election to raise the school tax rate in Mill Valley, under study by a citizen committee since July, got the go-ahead last night from district trustees for the ballot on Nov. 5.

The unanimous board decision was reached after the citizen committee voted 12-1 to support the ballot measure.

If approved by voters, the ballot measure will permit the district to spend $200 more per student per year from 1975-76 through 1977-78.

The extra money is needed to combat the combined effect of inflation and declining district enrollment and will allow the district to begin "gradual" economy measures rather than "severe" economy measures, according to Supt. Peter Palches.

The superintendent reported that with the increase next year's district tax rate is expected to increase 13 cents over its present rate of $1.99 per $100 of assessed valuation.

Members of a citizens committee studying the proposal since July voted 12-1 in favor of placing the issue before voters, Palches said.

State legislation now limits the amount a district may spend per student except when voters approve an increase.

The district currently is spending $1,234 per student and would be permitted to spend $1,434 per student if the measure passes.

In other business, the board accepted the resignation of financial secretary Barbara Powers, an employee of the district for 24 years, and approved an agreement with the Tamalpais Community Services District for construction of a playfield at Tamalpais Valley School.

Teacher Group Rejects Pact

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — One of the two teachers' organizations striking Oakland's schools has rejected a proposed settlement.

The AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers voted 269-32 Tuesday night to turn down a proposed labor contract which would have provided teachers with seven per cent pay increases.

Still to vote today was the larger Oakland Education Association which represents 2,200 of the school district's 3,000 teachers.

Ford Amnesty Policy Due Later In Month

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford will announce his policy for conditional amnesty for draft evaders and military deserters no later than the end of September, a spokesman said today.

Ford, who already has granted a full pardon to former President Nixon and was considering a similar measure for other Watergate figures, has held two meetings with his staff in the last 24 hours on the issue of amnesty for violators of military law.

Deputy Press Secretary John W. Hushen said that the final proposal, originally expected to be announced today, now will be issued "no later than the end of the month."

Hushen, who announced yesterday that the amnesty decision had been postponed indefinitely, said Ford summoned his senior staffers for a two-hour meeting on the subject last night and again today. "Many of the complexities are being ironed out," he said.

Asked whether Ford now would propose a more liberalized amnesty policy for the war resisters as a result of the Nixon's controversial pardon, Hushen replied: "I suggest you not speculate along those lines."

Ford announced last month that he intended to devise a policy of limited amnesty for war resisters. He said he opposes unconditional amnesty.

The delay in the announcement of an amnesty policy appeared to reflect an effort at the White House to allow time for the controversy over Nixon's pardon to settle down.

Public Response Heavily Against Nixon's Pardon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The public response has been overwhelmingly opposed to President Ford's decision to grant Richard Nixon an unconditional pardon from any Watergate-related crimes, the White House said today.

Deputy press secretary John Hushen said that as of 11 a.m. today the White House has received more than 16,000 telegrams and "mailgrams" and that they were running about 6 to 1 against the pardon.

Hushen said there were no available statistics yet on the volume of mail on the subject. He noted, however, that the White House mail handlers said that during other periods of controversial presidential decisions such as the "Saturday Night Massacre," the conviction of Lt. William Calley for the My Lai massacre, the invasion of Cambodia and the Amchitka atomic explosion, the telegrams arrived in much greater volume.

He also said that the situation had "changed around rather significantly" in terms of phone calls. As of midnight, he said the White House had received more than 5,700 in support of Ford's decision and about 3,900 opposing it.

Union To Support Brown Candidacy

BAKERSFIELD (UPI) — The longshoremen's union has switched its support to Jerry Brown Jr. for governor after endorsing San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto in the June Primary election.

The International Longshoremen's & Warehousemen's Union announced its endorsement today following a weekend conference attended by 40 delegates representing the 28,000 member union.

ECONOMY THE BIG ISSUE

Gov. George Wallace of Alabama says Watergate is behind the nation, so is President Ford's pardon of President Nixon and the big issue now is the nation's economy. Wallace made his remarks at an impromptu news conference yesterday following the adjournmanet of the day's session at the Southern Governors' Conference being held at Lakeway, a resort in Texas.

TerHorst Feels Ford Should Pardon Watergate Defendants

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former White House press secretary J. F. terHorst said today he hopes President Ford will consider pardoning Watergate-tainted defendants and other Nixon administration figures who are serving prison terms.

"I do think and I would hope that this would be in the forefront of his (Ford's) mind when he contemplated giving a pardon to former President Nixon," terHorst said.

"Mercy, like justice, must be dispensed evenhandedly when it's done at a presidential level," he said. "That would take in, I think, many of the defendants and some of those in prison as a result of offenses stemming from the same Watergate situation for which the former President received his pardon."

TerHorst was interviewed on the NBC Today Show two days after Ford announced his unconditional pardon of Nixon. TerHorst consequently resigned the post he held for just 31 days, saying he could not defend Ford's decision.

The Detroit News yesterday announced that terHorst has been rehired as a national columnist. He had been the News' Washington bureau chief.

As far as Ford's opposition to the granting of unconditional amnesty to Vietnam draft evaders and resisters, terHorst said the President "at least should consider re-examining that" position. "Now it may not come out any differently, but to me again it goes to the evenhandedness of mercy."

Maureen Dean, the wife of chief Watergate witness John W. Dean III, said yesterday in a statement that she hopes that Ford would consider offering pardons to others, including her husband who is serving a one to four year jail term, who were involved in the scandals.

TerHorst, who said he was "slightly stunned" by Ford's decision, also said that the President would have benefitted if "he had wider input from some of us who could see what the likely effect would be publicly" to the pardon decision.

"I hope I would have been able to alert the President to the political fallout and to the fact that it would slow or break the momentum I thought and was delighted to see that he was achieving in trying to pull the country together and serve as President of all the people," terHorst said.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Session Planned On Turkey Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger plans to meet soon with President Ford to discuss congressional demands to cut off military aid to Turkey because of its intervention in Cyprus.

Kissinger

Robert O. Anderson, a State Department spokesman, told reporters yesterday that Kissinger planned to raise the issue with Ford "in the next day or so."

"The President will undoubtedly be discussing this subject with congressional leaders," he added.

The House of Representatives returns from the Labor Day holiday yesterday and there is a move within the House Foreign Affairs Committee to delete aid to Turkey from the foreign aid bill.

Test Treaty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Ford administration has delayed sending to the Senate the limited underground nuclear testing treaty which President Nixon concluded in Moscow last July, and there is some question whether it will ever take effect.

The agreement is one of two substantive arms control measures signed between Nixon and Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev at their Moscow summit, both of which require Senate ratification to become effective.

The other measure, limiting each side to one antiballistic missile complex each, has been submitted by to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to start the ratification process.

Crash Probe

ATHENS (UPI) — Investigators examined the wreckage of a Trans World Airlines jet today to determine whether a suicide bomber blew up the aircraft over the Ionian Sea, killing all 88 persons aboard.

Officials said they hoped pieces of the Boeing 707 and bodies recovered from the water would help check a claim by a Palestinian guerrilla group that one of its members set off explosives aboard the jet.

Edward Dreifus, head of a U.S. National Transportation Safety Board investigating team that arrives yesterday, said no possible cause of the crash had been excluded.

Storm Swerves

MIAMI (UPI) — Tropical Storm Elaine today turned eastward away from the New England coast where the America's cup race between the United States and Australia was set to get underway and headed into the North Atlantic ocean.

Forecasters also were watching a tropical depression centered last night about 100 miles north of San Juan, P.R., which may become Tropical Storm Fifi, sixth of the season.

Celebration Set

SANTIAGO (UPI) — Supporters of Chile's military junta plastered the city with flags, slogans and signs today on the eve of the first anniversary of the bloody coup that toppled the Marxist government of President Salvador Allende.

Downtown stores prominently displayed color photographs of the ruling four-man junta, and Chilean flags sold briskly in preparation for tomorrow's anniversary.

Labor, business, student and women's organizations announced plans to stage a massive, pro-junta demonstration tomorrow.

Cuba Sanctions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Organization of American States has two important dates coming up — Sept. 19 and Nov. 11 — which may decide future economic and diplomatic sanctions against Cuba.

The OAS was officially asked yesterday by Columbia, Costa Rica and Venezuela to lift the sanctions, imposed on Cuba in 1964.

The three nations requested the OAS move toward ending its embargo of the Fidel Castro government on Nov. 11 in Ecuador during a foreign ministers' conference.

The in-depth review of the Cuban problem will begin on Sept. 19 in Washington when the OAS Council takes up the matter.

Bormann's Skull

LONDON (UPI) — The dental detective who helped identify the charred remains of Nazi leader Adolf Hitler said today he has located the skull and teeth of Martin Bormann, the fuehrer's top aide.

Dr. Reidar Sognnaes said the remains indicate Bormann committed suicide by biting down on one of the potassium cyanide poison capsules Hitler gave top lieutenants.

Greeks Out Of NATO For Good

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Greek Foreign Minister Georgios Mavros said today his government's withdrawal from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was final, but Greek foreign policy would remain tied to the West.

"For us, a return to the NATO military alliance does not come into question, our withdrawal is final," Mavros told a news conference after meeting with West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt in Bonn.

"Our withdrawal from the military alliance does not mean a reorientation of our foreign policy. We remain in Europe, we remain politically in the West alliance like France has done."

He said Greece also wanted to maintain good relations with the United States "but above all with Europe."

Mavros called on the nine Common Market members to exert "coordinated pressure" to find a solution to the Cyprus crisis. He said Cyprus "is a European problem because it is a Mediterranean problem."

In Cyprus, it was announced that the Greek Cypriot president and the Turkish Cypriot vice president will meet again tomorrow to discuss the problems of refugees on the embattled island.

During his two day official visit in Bonn, Mavros met with Schmidt and Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher to discuss Cyprus and also to seek West German support for Greece's early entry into the Common Market.

"Greece wants to be accepted as a full member of the European Community," Mavros told newsmen.

Banking Facility To Be Planner Topic

A drive-in banking facility proposed by the Bank of Marin for 1525 Fourth Street will be considered by the San Rafael Planning Commission when it meets at 7 o'clock tonight in city hall.

The new bank, proposed for a paved site between E and Shaver streets, would house a small lobby, two tellers for walk-in customers, and two tellers for drive-in customers. The facility would include four remote drive-in banking stations.

City staff has recommended approval of the proposal.

Cosmonaut Ends Rumor On Flight

HOUSTON (UPI) — An automatic, remote-control rendezvous and docking system failed to link up Soyuz 15 and the Salyut space station last month, the head of cosmonaut training said yesterday.

The system was first tested in 1968 but it had not been used since, Vladimir Shatalov said. Western experts had guessed that a loss of power prevented the docking and ended the flight by two Russian fliers after only three days.

Shatalov heads a delegation of nine cosmonauts and six engineers working on the 1975 joint U.S.-Soviet flight here. He said the failure would in no way impair the international mission.

He said the automatic system had never worked within 500 feet of the target vehicle, and this was the first time the system had been used to try to make the actual docking.

In previous manned missions the docking had been carried by the cosmonauts on board, he said.

The docking mechanism for the joint flight is completely different from that used on Soyuz 15.

Shatalov said Soyuz 15 was just another step in the Russian program to develop a long-term orbital space station. He said it had two primary goals.

"The first problem was to study the automatic rendezvous and docking," he said. "We had experimented and tested such a program in '68, but since that time, a great time has elapsed and we do need more to perfect this particular system."

The second goal was a night landing upon return to Earth, which was accomplished Aug. 29.

Saxbe Sees A Worse Crime Wave

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Attorney General William B. Saxbe said today violent crime is spreading so intensively that vigilante groups may organize to take the law into their own hands.

"If the present trends continue, the prospect of where America may be a decade from now ... is enough to evoke a shudder from even the most optimistic," Saxbe said. "There could no longer be any place to hide — no safe zones, not for anybody," he said.

"In fact, we may be near that point already."

Saxbe used his strongest language and portrayed the darkest outlook he has expressed thus far in comments on the rising crime rate, especially of violent crime, in a speech prepared for delivery to a meeting of the Ohio Realtors' Association.

Two weeks ago, Saxbe described the war on crime as a "harsh, bitter and dismaying" failure.

In his new warning, Saxbe said vigilante groups may begin taking the law into their own hands "if the terror of crime becomes too great."

"In some parts of the country we already have seen the first faint inklings of such actions," he said. Saxbe did not explain that point further.

He denounced vigilante justice as strongly as he has denounced police state tactics.

"Outlaws are outlaws, whether they break the law for personal gain or whether they use illegal means to fight crime," Saxbe said. "One is no better than the other."

The target of Saxbe's concern is a new FBI crime report that shows the rate of serious crime soared 16 per cent in the last quarter of 1973 and for the first three months of 1974 was 15 per cent above the same period last year.

This means, Saxbe told the realtors, that the "number of victims grows to levels that most would have thought impossible a decade or two ago. At the same time, the chances of becoming a victim grows correspondingly."

Petaluma Boy Killed On Bicycle

A 15-year-old Petaluma boy died yesterday when he accidentally steered his bicycle into the path of a slow-moving but large truck.

Franklin Edward Terry, of 1275 San Jose Way, was riding his bicycle west on Washington Street near Kentucky Street at about 7:30 a.m. when he was struck and run over by a double-trailer truck driven by Joseph H. Scheflick, 46, of Ukiah.

Both vehicles were traveling in the same direction, witnesses told police, and the truck was moving at about 25 miles per hour.

The accident apparently occurred when young Terry waved to a friend and wavered into the truck's path.

He was a native of Tacoma, Wash., and had lived in Petaluma the last three years.

Franklin was a sophomore at San Antonio High School.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin A. Terry of Petaluma; a sister, Debra Terry of Petaluma; five brothers, Ronald, Paul and Kenneth Terry, all of Petaluma, Michael Terry of Santa Clara and Army Pfc. Robert Terry of Okinawa; his paternal grandmother, Mabel Terry of Oklahoma, and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Davis of San Jose.

Memorial service will be at 2 p.m. Friday at the Sorensen Funeral Home, with Rev. Arthur Nunn of the First Southern Baptist Church of Petaluma officiating. Inurnment will be private.

Board Will Eye Busing Problem

The tangled busing situation in the Tamalpais High School District will be considered at 8:30 p.m. today when the district board meets in the Redwood High School faculty lounge.

The board will consider an offer from the Bolinas-Stinson Beach Elementary School District to provide busing for West Marin students until Oct. 4, and will hear reports on the situation in the eastern part of the county.

The board also is expected to approve the pay raise overwhelmingly accepted by teachers last Wednesday. The package calls for a seven per cent increase over last year's salaries, plus an additional three per cent if certain funds become available.

Kentfield Executive Center Of SEC Case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission today filed a complaint in federal court alleging the United States Tank Car Corp. and its president violated antifraud provisions of securities laws.

The suit says that starting on August 31, 1973, the Seattle, Wash., firm and Bernhard Dohrmann, president and sole stockholder, of Kentfield, violated laws in connection with the offering and sale of interest in the company's tank car management program.

The U.S. District Court is being asked to grant injunctive relief and appoint a receiver for the corporation.

Under the program, the firm was obligated to buy certain railroad tank cars, accept delivery, arrange for their lease to users, collect and pool lease payments and distribute profits after fees and expenses.

The prospectus for the program said that USTC would be able to get delivery on tank cars within 60 to 100 days of the orders being placed and no income could be expected until the cars were delivered. But the SEC alleges that Dohrmann knew that the delay would run from 270 to 365 days.

The SEC also said the prospectus stated that each $29,550 investment would be enough to buy a tank car and prepare it for service, but Dohrmann knew that the costs would exceed this amount so that investors would have to rely on USTC financial support.

The SEC said the firm was unable to provide such support and hence the only contracts obtained were for cheaper tank cars than those offered in the prospectus.

The commission alleges that none of the tank cars sold to investors have been delivered and that UTSC is "hopelessly insolvent" with minimal income and no assets.

Mozambique Capital Is Gripped By Riots, Fear

LOURENCO MARQUES, Mozambique (UPI) — A white settler uprising against Portugal's agreement to turn this East African colony over to a black majority subsided today but violence swept the Mozambique capital.

Officials said an unknown number of blacks and whites were killed in racial clashes.

Military ambulances sped back and forth across this sparkling seaside city. Police Chief Cunha Tavares urged calm. Troops tried to scatter rioters by firing into the air. Scores of East Indians and Portuguese gathered a few belongings and fled by car or on foot to still-peaceful white districts in the center of town.

A spokesman for militant whites whose revolt collapsed today with surrender of the airfield and radio station said, "The movement has been temporarily disbanded."

But the crisis already had helped fuel rioting, looting and burning in the black shanty towns and in nearby white neighborhoods.

This correspondent saw the charred body of one African. Bystanders said he had been dragged out of his car, shot and then set afire by whites.

A cloud of smoke over the suburb of Xipamanine showed where rioters had set fire to a bus. Some Africans looted shops and then burned them.

At one entry to a shanty town several thousand Africans searched cars for Portugese flags and weapons. "If you're going down there and you have any weapons, you probably won't come back," a police officer told this correspondent.

The colony's military commander, Brig. Gen. Orlando Barbosa, called an emergency meeting of senior army officers.

Professors Seek To Impeach Ford

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Two college professors said yesterday they would ask the American Civil Liberties Union to launch a national impeachment effort against President Ford, charging he obstructed justice by pardoning former President Nixon.

Prof. Larry Schwartz of San Diego City College said the grounds for the impeachment effort against Ford is his agreement to allow Nixon to destroy his presidential tape recordings after five years.

He also said Ford "obstructed justice by halting the investigations of the Nixon presidency."

Arthur M. Schaffer, a law professor at Western State College of Law, also in San Diego, said the second purpose of the impeachment proposal was to encourage Congress to continue its impeachment of Nixon.

He was the publisher of Dong-A Ilbo, South Korea's largest newspaper, from 1947 to 1963.

He also served as president of the Korean Red Cross until 1972.

Bornstein said a $165,000 grant fund sought by San Rafael to establish the narcotics unit might better be spent beefing up the federal Drug Enforcement Administration's local activity.

The unit was backed by Councilman Jean-Marie Mahoney, who said Fairfax is filled with dazed hipsters high on drugs. "You can't go around living in a town stumbling over people who are high on drugs," she said, adding that the unit would frighten dealers out of town.

"For Pete's sake. We've got a lousy drug problem in Marin County and particularly in Fairfax. We need help," agreed Councilman Randall Garrison.

Though both Garrison and Mrs. Mahoney appeared impressed with some points raised by attorney Bornstein, they voted to oppose a motion by Mayor Egger that the town reject the San Rafael proposal.

Egger and Mrs. Gray, in opposing the unit, said the town should ask the Marin County Council of Mayors and Councilmen to seek alternative methods of controlling the county's drug problem.

The drug unit proposal has also been opposed by the City of Novato and has drawn conditional support from the City of Mill Valley. San Anselmo city councilmen, who last month reacted cooly to the proposal, will consider the matter again at 8 p.m. today in city hall.

PARDON

Nixon Sunday, White House counsel Philip Buchen told reporters at a briefing that Ford had given no thought to a similar pardon for other Watergate defendents.

Hushen cautioned reporters "don't try to predict the results of the study."

He said that despite the furor aroused by the Nixon pardon, the President "still thinks it's the right decision and he will be proven right in the long run."

As for Ford's personal reaction to the storm of criticism, Hushen replied, "I certainly would not describe the President as being surprised. He knew it would be controversial."

Since the Watergate investigations began, 39 persons have been convicted or pleaded guilty and seven others — including former Nixon Cabinet members John N. Mitchell and John B. Connally — are awaiting trial. More indictments are expected in the weeks to come.

A White House spokesman earlier had said Ford made no attempt to extract a confession of wrongdoing from Nixon in exchange for the pardon.

Larry Speakes, a press aide, said he came to that conclusion after consulting with Ford and a small circle of the President's associates who were involved in the negotiations prior to the decision announced Sunday to grant Nixon a "full, free and absolute" pardon for all offenses he may have committed in office.

The New York Times today quoted a "reliable source" as saying Ford's lawyers asked Nixon to make what the former president regarded as "a public confession of criminal guilt" in exchange for the pardon.

The Times said that Nixon "angrily refused and subsequent negotiations between the two camps caused the delay in reaching an agreement..."

"It was an act of mercy," Speakes said. "Ford planned to pardon Nixon without the former president doing anything in return. He expected it would be right for the country that Nixon should be pardoned."

Speakes said Philip Buchen, Ford's chief agent in the pardon negotiations with Nixon, told reporters Sunday that there had been no "precondition" for the pardon.

The Washington Post said today the special prosecutor's office informed Ford there were 10 possible areas of "criminal liability" for wich Nixon could be cited. Quoting a Capitol Hill source, it said Ford had expected to make the list public, but Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski refused.

Ford has been meeting with his senior staff, apparently to assess the widespread adverse reaction to the party. But when Hushen was asked if Ford had any regrets, he replied: "None."

He said the question of Nixon's health did not surface in any of the discussions about a pardon. There have been several published reports that Ford was disturbed over word from Nixon's friends and associates that the former president was "terribly depressed" and that his health was threatened.

Hushen told reporters yesterday that Ford had expected his decision would be controversial. But it was unclear whether the President had forseen the intensity of the reaction of the people.

Drug Sale Leads To County Jail

An unemployed gas station attendant has been sentenced to 60 days in Marin County Jail after pleading guilty to two counts of selling amphetamine powder to an undercover agent.

William Edward Rosser III, 28, who now lives in Sonoma, was a Novato resident when he made the sales in February and March.

A third count of selling the drug was dismissed by Marin Superior Court Judge Charles Read Best when he sentenced Rosser Friday.

Rosser, who received a medical discharge from the Army, last worked as a service station attendant in 1971, according to a probation report.

PROTEST OVER PARDON

A university of Wisconsin coed made her feelings known during a rally yesterday to protest President Ford's pardon of Richard Nixon. About 1,200 young people marched from the University Mall in Madison to the state capitol. (UPI Telephoto)

Nixon Plans To Resign State Bar

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Former President Richard M. Nixon will resign from the California State Bar because he no longer wants to practice law, his personal attorney said yesterday.

The surprise announcement came minutes before some of the 500 delegates to the annual State Bar meeting planned to bring up a resolution calling for continued investigation into Nixon's possible disbarment.

But the former president's attorney, Dean S. Butler, denied that the resignation — scheduled to take place in the next couple of weeks — had anything to do with the investigation or disbarment.

"Former President Nixon has determined that in the future he will be engaged in matters other than the practice of law," Butler said in an informal letter to bar president Seth M. Hufstedler.

Nixon, who began his law career in California in 1939, has to be a member of the bar to practice in the state. Butler also said Nixon plans to resign from the New York state bar, but the secretary of that institution said he had not received any formal indication of it.

The California Bar's resolution asking for the continuation of the already lengthy investigation of Nixon apparently died with the resignation announcement. One member said the question was "moot."

Asked if the resignation would halt the investigation and disbarment proceedings, Hufstedler replied, "resignation accomplishes that very effectively."

The announcement came only a few hours after State Attorney General Evelle Younger said Nixon could still face disbarment and state prosecution for Watergate-related crimes — despite President Ford's pardon.

Butler said, "There may have been some reluctance to take a position on that prior to Mr. Ford's pardon over the weekend. There were so many matters being considered that it was just not appropriate at that time for him to be making many changes."

Out of those California attorneys charged or convicted in the Watergate related scandal, only Herbert Kalmbach, Nixon's one-time personal attorney, has been suspended from the State Bar.

New Short-Lived Element Found By UC Scientists

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The discovery of a new element — with a life of less than a second and no name yet other than Element 106 — has been announced here by scientists from the Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory in California.

The scientists, Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg and Dr. Albert Ghiorso, said yesterday the evidence of the discovery was conclusive. A recent Russian claim of finding the same element lacked firm evidence, they said. The American scientists, who have participated in the discovery of several elements, said they had confirmed the existence of Element 106 by precisely identifying the particles it gives off during its brief existence.

The discovery "increases the knowledge of nuclear structure," said Dr. Seaborg, a former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission and a 1951 Nobel Prize winner. "It adds one more piece to the jigsaw puzzle" of understanding nature, he said.

As research continues, scientists will examine the chemical properties of Element 106 and can use it to investigate the behavior of electrons in terms of the theory of relativity.

An element is a form of matter than cannot be further broken down to simpler forms by any ordinary means. Each has its own chemical characteristics. They are listed in a form called the periodic table. Element 106 is placed under tungsten.

Scientists from Russia's Joint Institute for Nuclear research at Dubn visited the California laboratory last month and reported observing some fissioning atomic nuclei they believed to be Element 106.

"They hardly even know the half-life," said Dr. Ghiorso. The half-life is the time an element exists. "There is a possibility they are right. We hope they are right. The probability in my mind is that they are not."

Because of questions about the Soviet work, the American scientists said they have not given the new element a name. It is customary for persons discovering new elements to name them.

Martha Is Mad Nixon Got Pardon

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (UPI) — Martha Mitchell doesn't care if "Jerry" never talks to her again. She just had to speak her mind about President Ford's pardon of former President Richard M. Nixon.

"I'm sure there was a deal with President Nixon before the resignation," Mrs. Mitchell, estranged wife of former Attorney General John Mitchell, said yesterday while visiting a cousin in her native state.

"I knew Nixon had something up his sleeve when he left the White House," she said. "Nixon's just as guilty as anybody else and it's a horrible, horrible thing. I don't feel sorry for him or his family either because they're too stupid to know what they're doing."

Mrs. Mitchell said she hoped the amnesty for the former chief executive would not put Watergate out of the minds of Americans because "it's making politics straight and not crooked."

She said she was extremely bitter about Ford's action because it showed "there are two standards of justice. It's a bad precedent.

"I don't believe in pardoning one person and not pardoning everybody else, especially when they're the ones that did the dirty work for him. And that goes even for old (Bob) Haldeman and old (John) Ehrlichman whom I hate," she said.

Jupiter Shown As A Gigantic, Hot Ball Of Liquified Hydrogen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The colossal planet Jupiter is a spinning ball of liquid hydrogen with a turbulent interior and raging atmospheric storms.

And the mysterious Great Red Spot on the solar system's largest planet may be the vortex of a 25,000 long tornado that has been towering above Jupiter's cloud belt for hundreds of years.

This was the picture of the dense, brightly banded planet that scientists have pieced together from the Pioneer 10 flyby of Jupiter last December, an announcement said today.

"At best, Jupiter has only a small rocky core, thousands of miles below the heavily clouded atmosphere," the researchers concluded in a report released by the National Aeronautics and Space Agency.

The scientists analyzed measurements and pictures radioed back by the Pioneer 10 spacecraft which flew within 81,000 miles of Jupiter on Dec. 5, 1973.

A sister probe is due to pass within 29,000 miles of the fifth planet out from the sun on Dec. 3 this year.

The space agency said in releasing the reports that some of the information appears to confirm theories about Jupiter while other findings contradict earlier ideas about the planet.

Some of the major new findings are that Jupiter apparently has a much hotter interior than previously thought, its magnetic field is larger than expected and its radiation belts are even more intense than predicted by many scientists.

Much of the new picture of Jupiter's interior was based on temperature calculations by Dr. William B. Hubbard, of the University of Arizona, using measurements obtained from a Pioneer 10 gravity sensing experiment.

"Jupiter is almost certainly a liquid planet for it is too hot to solidify, even with its enormous internal pressures of millions of atmospheres," NASA said.

The agency said the atmosphere begins to turn to liquid hydrogen 600 miles below the top of Jupiter's colorful clouds. At this transition zone the temperature is calculated at 3,600 degrees Fahrenheit.

At a depth of 1,800 miles, the temperature is put at 10,000 degrees and the pressure 90,000 times earth's surface atmospheric pressure.

At this point, the weight of the Jovian atmosphere compresses the hydrogen into a liquid about one-quarter as dense as water.

At a depth of 15,000 miles, the pressure is 3 million atmospheres and liquid hydrogen turns to liquid metallic hydrogen.

Watergate Grand Jury Foreman Feels Put Out By Nixon Pardon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The foreman of the grand jury that implicated Richard M. Nixon in the Watergate cover-up says he feels "left up the creek" by the pardon granted the former President.

He said the jurors are considering whether they can make public some of the damaging evidence.

Vladimir Pregelj said no decision had been made yet, but it had been suggested that the grand jury issue a special report on its evidence.

Last March, it voted 19-0 to name Nixon as a co-conspirator in the Watergate cover-up, but to bring no formal charges because of the constitutional ban on indictments against a president in office.

Philip Lacovara, 29, one of the chief lawyers on the staff of Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski, expressed his dissatisfaction over the pardon yesterday by resigning.

"Mr. Lacovara explained that recent developments have made it appropriate for him to accelerate his plans to leave the special prosecutor's office and enter the private practice of law," said a spokesman.

Lawyers for the six men actually charged in the indictment meet today to discuss what actions they would take as a result of President Ford's pardon for Nixon. They are expected to consider whatever joint efforts they could take.

"Everybody has thoughts they want to share," said one legal source. "There is a serious argument for dismissal of the indictment, although we don't know how it should be handled."

Pregelj, an economist at the Library of Congress, said he had been called by a few of the 23 grand jurors and their reactions ranged from "deep dismay to high outrage." He said he did not know how all the jurors felt.

"We were set up to follow certain statutory procedures and now that mandate had been short-circuited," Pregelj said. "This leaves the grand jury up the creek and to a certain extent puts the whole procedure up a creek."

Pregelj said he would "prefer the initiative to come from Jaworski," but if not, he might take it upon himself to call the grand jury into session.

The panel has not met since last March, when the indictments were returned against the six aides, including charges of perjury, conspiracy and obstruction of justice.

The grand jury expires Dec. 5. Pregelj said the law was unclear whether the grand jury could act without the prosecutor's approval

Lacovara's resignation, effective Sept. 29, means Jaworski will lose his No. 3 man, one who wrote many of the legal briefs.

He drew praise from legal experts for his oral arguments before the Supreme Court over Nixon's Watergate tape recordings.

Lacovara held a long talk with Jaworski yesterday afternoon, then resigned. He said it was "absolutely not related in any way" to a disagreement with Jaworski and his decision was based on Ford's action alone.

"I like to think of myself as a serious person and I do not do things lightly," he said in an interview. "I gave it a good deal of thought. We all have to do what we think is right."

One Watergate-related court action closed the case on allegations of tampering on Nixon's Watergate tapes.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica dismissed the six experts, hired at a cost of about $100,000, who worked 10 months and reached conclusions on only one recording, that of June 20, 1972, the one that contained an 18 ½ minute gap.

The experts said the tape was marred by at least five and as many as nine separate erasures. A grand jury is investigating.

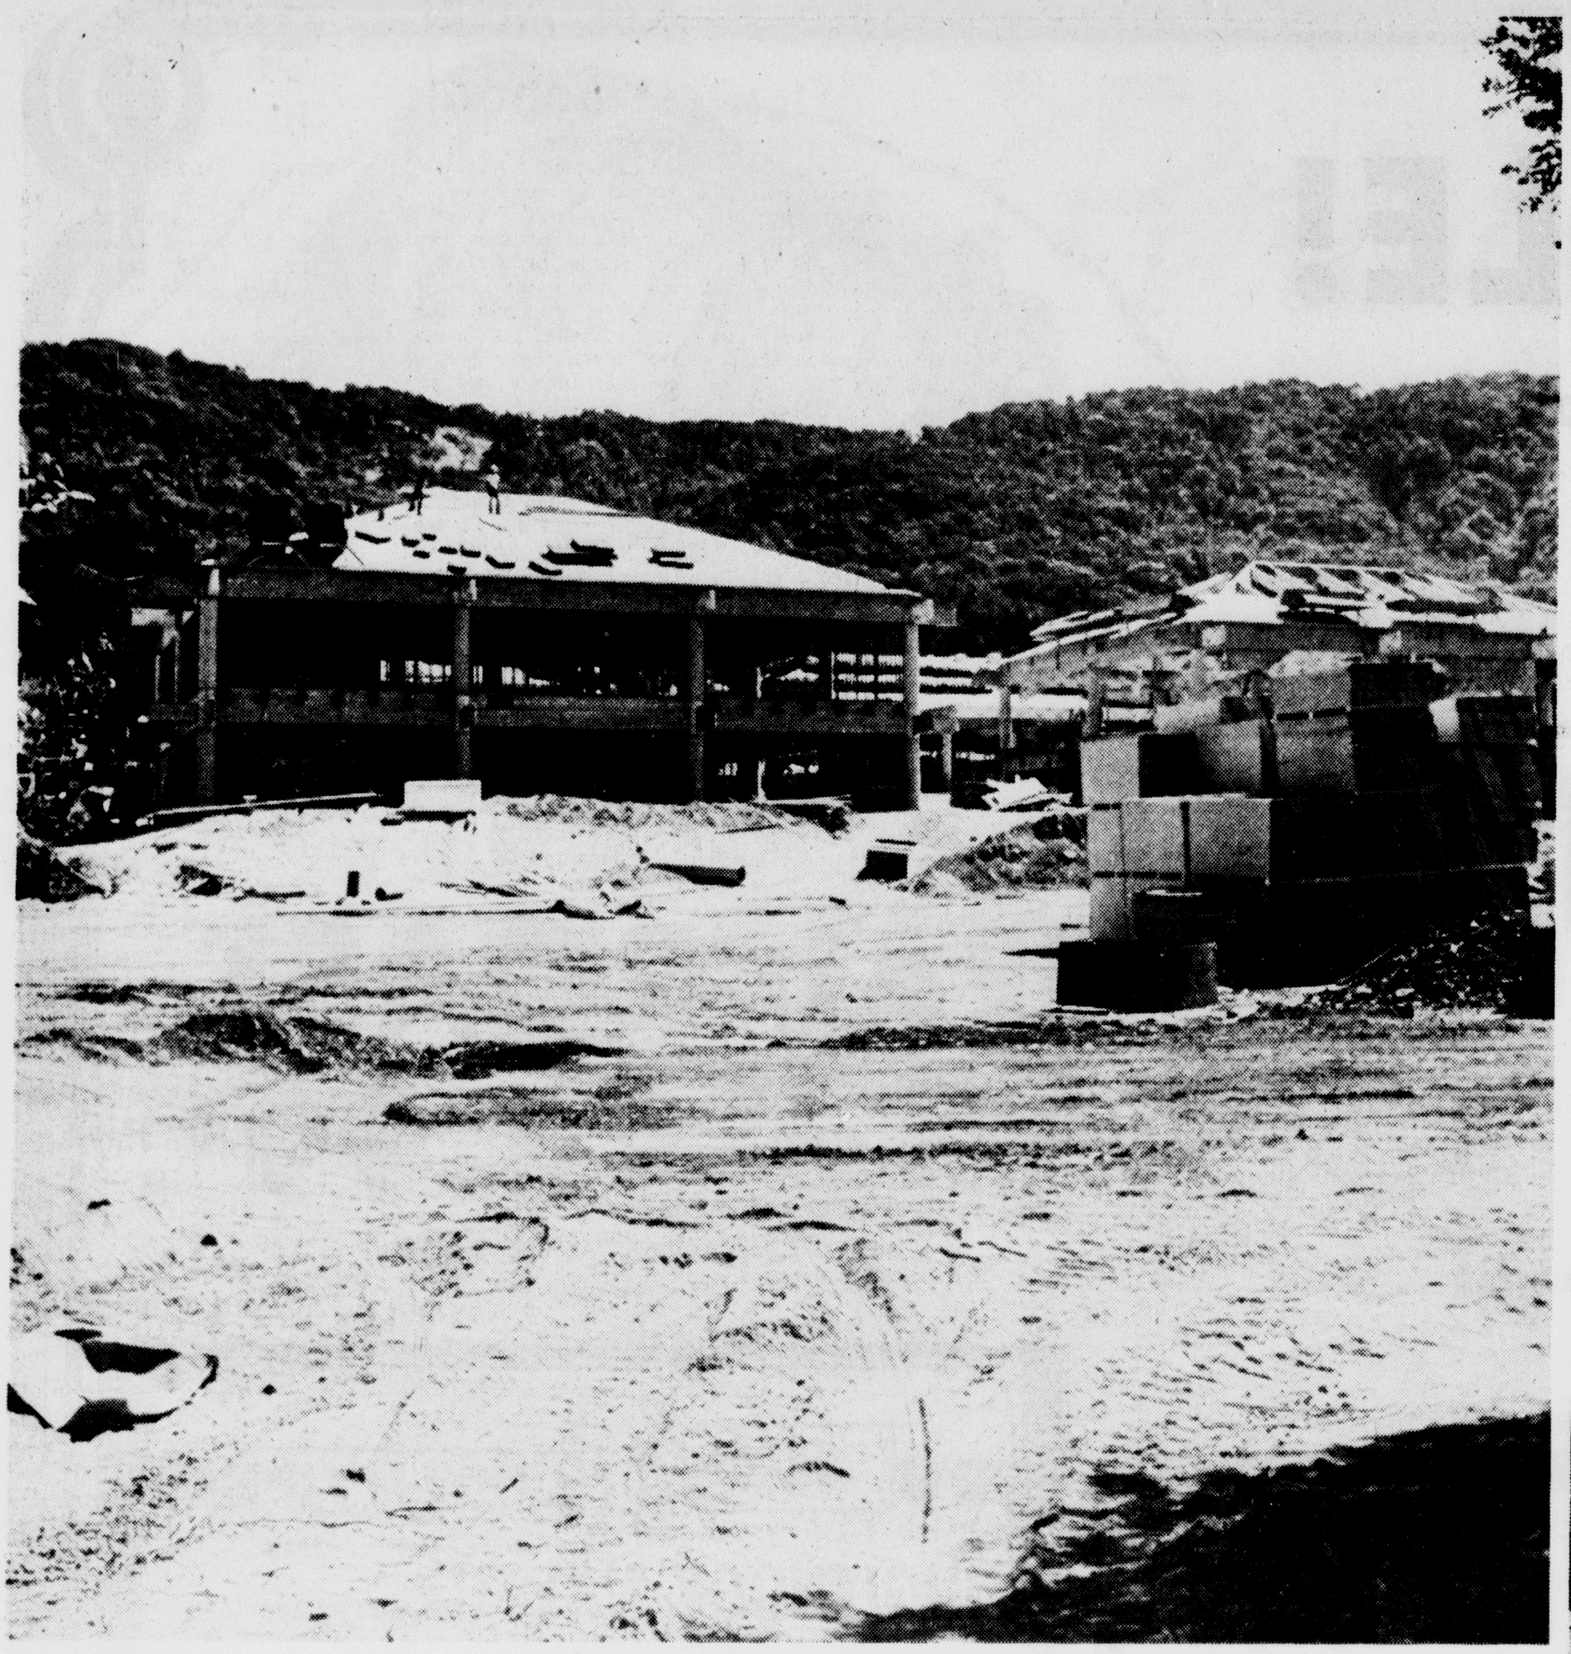
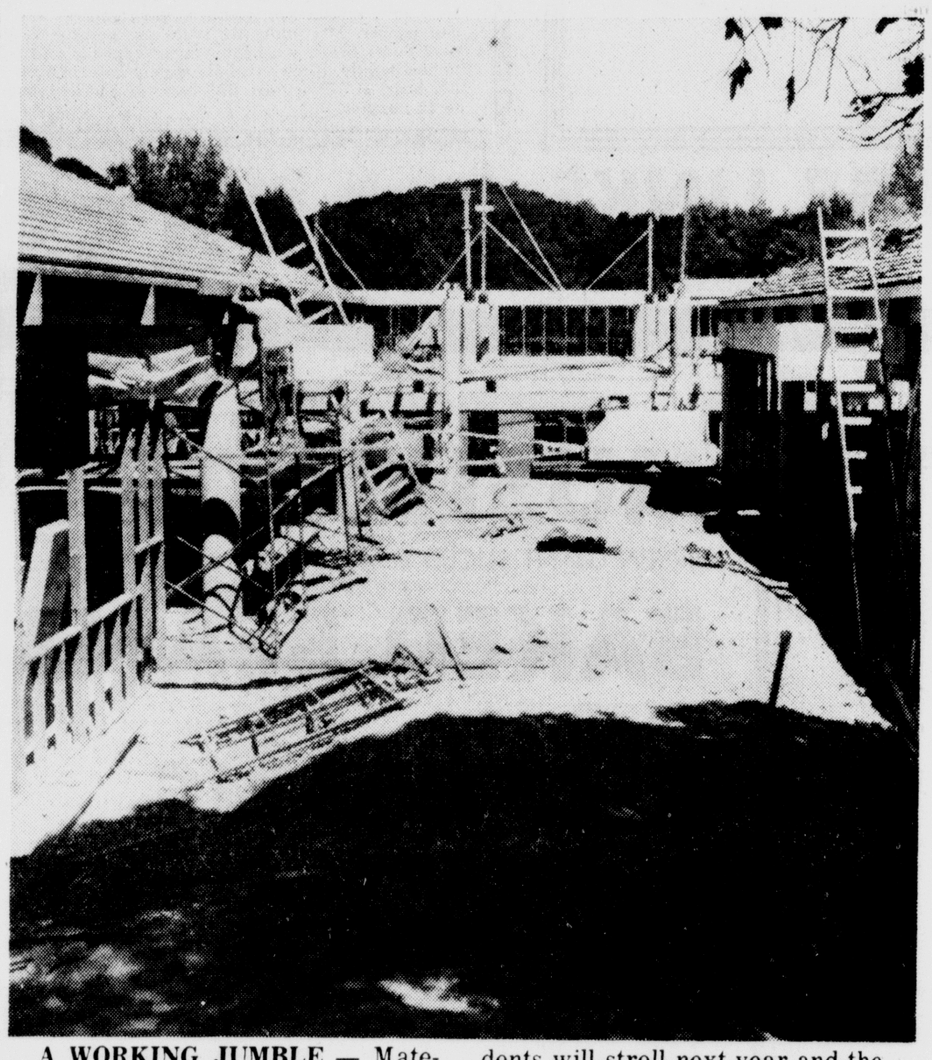
A COLLEGE GROWS

Clusters of large buildings are taking shape on the 330-acre Indian Valley Colleges campus at the former Pacheco Ranch at the end of Ignacio Boulevard, near Novato, where classes are scheduled to open in the fall of 1975. The buildings, above, are to house the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences, one of three colleges to be constructed. First phase construction cost $5 million and the campus is expected to accommodate 2,000 students next year.

(Photos by Alfred M. Arn)

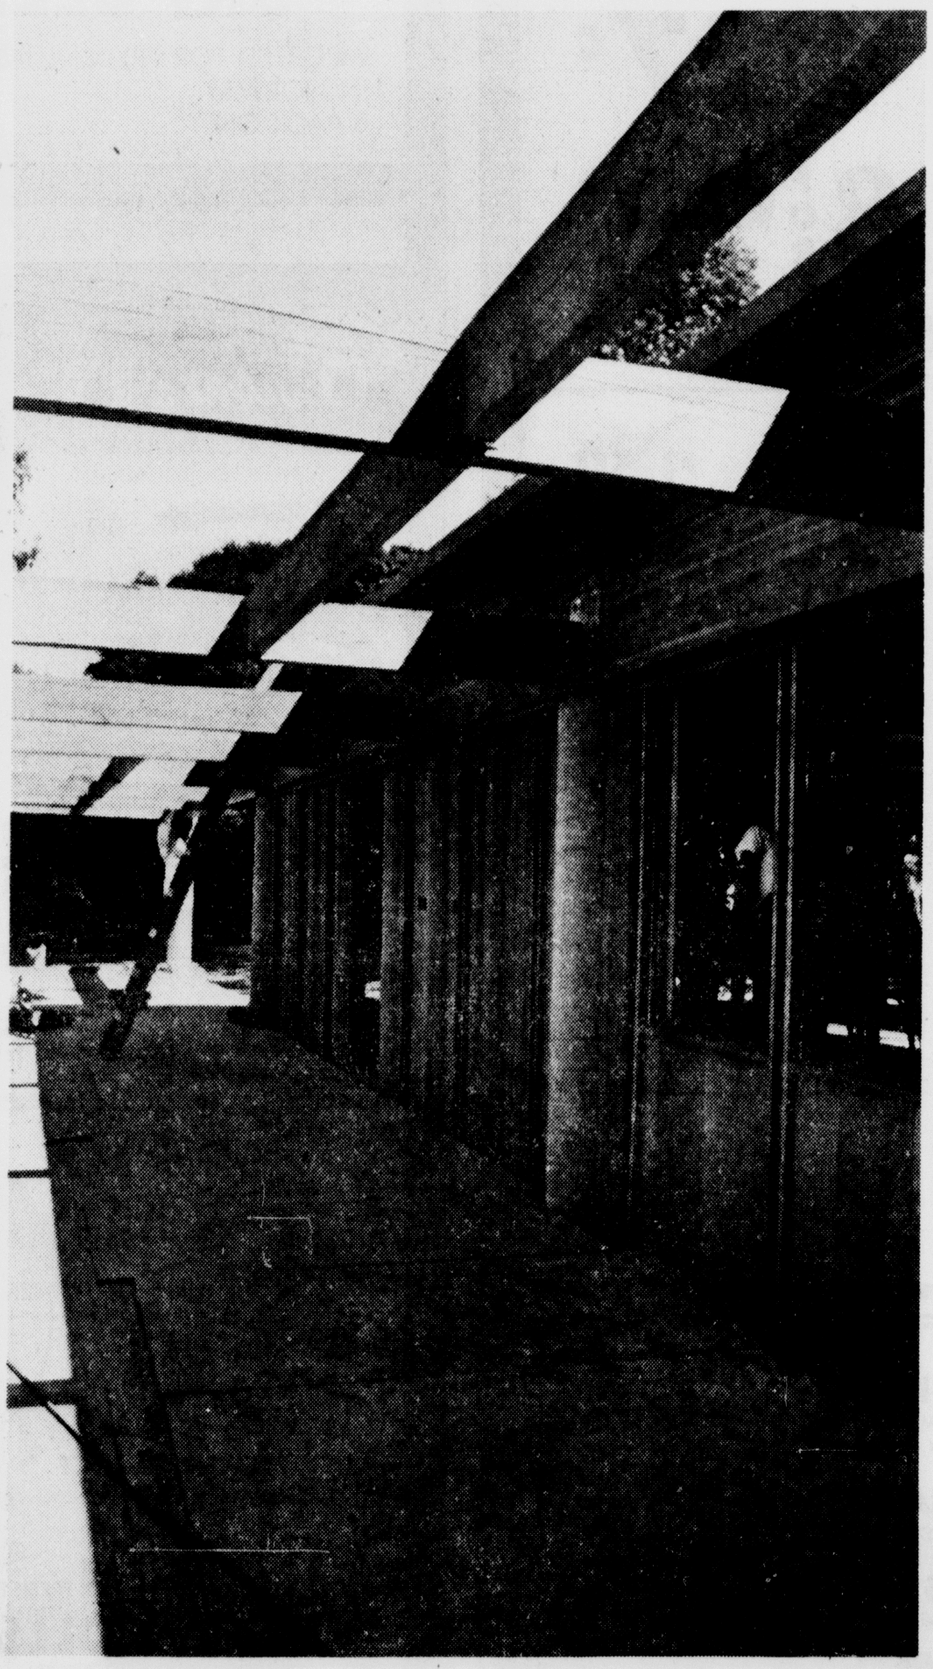


ACRES OF PARKING — The level land at the entrance to the Indian Valley Colleges campus has been fashioned into a parking lot with 824 parking spaces. Students also are expected to arrive by bus and a bus shelter is being constructed, right center, where the bus turnout lanes near the entrance to college buildings.



A WORKING JUMBLE — Material and equipment now lie along classroom buildings where students will stroll next year and the disrupted land will be landscaped.

WORK PROGRESSING — Under a warm September sun, a crew of workmen keep at the job, building the roof and siding on the main building at College of Arts and Humanities, scheduled to be open in the fall of 1975.



PATTERN IN WOOD — The entry way at the Administration Building is typical of construction at the campus, wooden buildings and wooden beams throughout to keep in harmony with the wooded area of the Pacheco Ranch.

Kennedy Target Of Eggs, Tomatoes

BOSTON (UPI) — A crowd protesting a desegregation order for Boston schools threw eggs and tomatoes at Sen. Edward Kennedy when he showed up at the rally yesterday.

The demonstrators hissed, turned their backs on the Massachusetts Democrat and sang "God Bless America."

A few in the crowd restricted themselves to generalities such as "you're a disgrace to the Irish," but others shouted personal remarks about his son and brothers.

"Why don't you put your one-legged son on a bus for Roxbury," one shouted. The senator's son had one leg amputated because of cancer. Roxbury is a predominantly black area.

"Why don't you let them shoot you like they shot your two brothers," another yelled. Both the late President John F. Kennedy and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy were assassinated.

The demonstration was similar to many of the disturbances that rocked the South when schools were integrated there under federal court orders in the 1960s.

Many southerners argued then that attempts to integrate schools in the north would meet with similar resistance from parents.

When schools open Thursday, more than 18,000 black and white Boston children will be bused to public schools outside their neighborhoods.

About 45,000 of the city's 94,000 students have been assigned to new schools because of the order by U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity.

Kennedy was booed off a stage and splattered with a tomato when he tried to address the crowd of about 8,000 anti-busing demonstrators. The crowd had converged on Government Center after a 30-minute march through downtown Boston.

Kennedy told newsmen he hopes the people of Boston will shun violence, adding: "I've seen it before, in my own family, and it isn't the answer."

Mayor Kevin H. White says he will "pursue and prosecute" all persons who try to forcibly stop children from going to school Thursday.

As Kennedy left the speakers platform to enter his office at the nearby John F. Kennedy Federal Building, he was followed by several hundred demonstrators.

Before he got to the entrance of the building, a handful of demonstrators began throwing eggs and tomatoes.

Several demonstrators attempted to follow Kennedy in the building but were pushed back by security guards from the General Services Administration.

During the brief encounter a large plate glass window was broken. There were no reports of arrests or injuries.

Kennedy was not hit by any of the missiles, but appeared visibly shaken by the incident. He said he regrets that he did not get to speak but does not regret his decision to attend the rally.

The senator said he understands the concerns of the parents and added, "Those who are legitimately concerned with the safety of their children shouldn't be considered bigots."

He urged the people of Boston to "listen to the voices of reason" and to "turn your backs on violence."

Muffled Wail Turns Out To Be New Child

ATLANTA (UPI) — A muffled wail yesterday stopped Eddie Fletcher's finger inches from the button that starts the crushing compactor on the garbage truck.

Fletcher and his fellow garbage collector, L. C. Etheridge, exchanged incredulous glances and listened intently.

Among the last bags they had collected they found an hour-old baby boy wrapped in a towel.

The two men summoned an emergency medical service team which tied the infant's umbilical cord and rushed him to DeKalb General Hospital, where doctors said later the 8-lb. 4-ounce boy was "doing fine."

Fletcher and Ethridge traced the garbage bag to an address where a 15-year-old girl was identified as the mother of the child.

Franklin Statue Unveiled In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — A 12-foot bronze statue of Benjamin Franklin, sculpted by former Muskingum College art director James Anderson and cast in Italy, was unveiled yesterday at the new Franklin County Hall of Justice.

The $50,000 figure, a gift from the Joseph A. Jeffrey Endowment Fund, stands on an eight-foot concrete base.

About 350 persons were on hand for the unveiling, which followed the formal dedication of the new hall. Anderson, now head of the University of Northern Arizona Art Department, said he was "grateful to all who assisted" with the project.

32 Die In Crash Of Church Bus

SALTA, Argentina (UPI) — Thirty-two persons died Sunday night when a church bus carrying pilgrims plunged over a canyon rim and fell 700 feet. Six passengers survived the crash.

The bus, carrying members of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Society home from a pilgrimage, lost its brakes at a curve in the rugged mountain road known as Bishop's Slope and careened over the canyon wall.

Restaurant Of Future— A Lifestyle

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Dining out in 1984 may be a cozy, sensuous experience. Some new terms may also be invented to make the customer relax and give the waiter some status.

A patron in the eateries of the future will be known as a "host away from home" and "table counselors" will take the orders, predicts National Restaurant Association President Henry W. Bolling.

Bolling told delegates to the Western National Restaurant Convention yesterday that current architectural trends are moving away from building private homes with separate dining rooms.

In the next 10 years, he said, about one-half of all American meals will be eaten outside the home, compared with current Agriculture Department statistics showing that one-third of all meals are eaten out.

The trend toward "do-it-yourself" activities in restaurants will be spread from the currently popular self-service salad bar to "mix-your-own drinks," "cook-your-own steaks" and "make-your-own pizza," Bolling said.

"In this environment, the restaurant will become a hospitality center."

The restaurateur, who operates cafeterias in Chicago, pointed to a trend toward "sensuousness" as furthering the do-it-yourself trend.

"I am not suggesting that anyone start an X-rated restaurant," he said. "What is involved is that people are placing greater emphasis on the total sensory experience — touching, feeling and smelling."

Bolling predicted diners will be attracted to ethnic restaurants for their nights on the town.

"The change to be enjoyed from a visit to an ethnic restaurant could be compared to the kind of change you enjoy with travel," he said.

Some Strikes At End In Midwest Schools

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Settlements have been reached ending teachers strikes in some school districts in Michigan, Ohio and Illinois. But scattered contract disputes kept about 250,000 students away from classes today.

Strikes in Ann Arbor, Charlotte, Napoleon, Grand Haven and East Detroit, Mich., ended yesterday. However, about 5,000 teachers continued strikes in 11 Michigan school districts, halting classes for nearly 80,000 students.

Teachers in Oak Park, Ill, came to terms with the suburban Chicago school board yesterday and returned to classrooms today, ending a strike that began Sept. 5 and affected 6,400 students. An agreement also was reached in Gallia County, Ohio, and teachers returned to classes yesterday.

Another Ohio strike was averted when Members of the Oberlin Education Association yesterday agreed to accept a starting salary of $300 less than originally sought and call off today's expected walkout. The 120 teachers of 2,000 students accepted a wage settlement which called for a starting salary of $7,550. Teachers had been negotiating since January for starting pay of $7,850.

More than a million New York City school children started classes yesterday with only minor disruptions as 18,000 part-time school aides and school lunch employes worked without a contract. About 12,000 students in the Bronx were given free passes for subways and buses because of a bus driver's strike. Protest boycotts called by parents sapped attendance at two schools.

Schools remained closed yesterday for about 31,000 students in Racine, Wis., after teachers rejected a new contract proposal because they were unhappy with the cost-of-living clause. The 1,600 teachers have refused nonteaching duties, and school officials countered by closing the schools.

About 36,000 students in the Tacoma, Wash., school district, second largest in the state, had another day off today as lengthy negotiations have failed to bring accord. About 2,100 teachers struck the school district last Wednesday.

Sweeny, Queen Of The Italians

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Her name is Sweeny, and she has been elected Queen of the annual Columbus Day festivities, a celebration of San Francisco's Italian colony.

Angela Marie Sweeny, 17, was eligible for the queen contest because her mother is Italian.

A Denial Of Fights By Sinatra

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Frank Sinatra, who was scheduled to go on trial today in a $2.5 million civil suit brought by a Salt Lake City man, denied in a deposition he had been involved in a series of fistfights over 35 years.

The deposition, taken in San Francisco Aug. 30, was filed in federal court yesterday.

Frank J. Weinstock, an insurance executive, alleged Sinatra's associates beat him up in Palm Springs in 1973 after a member of Sinatra's party allegedly made advances to Weinstock's wife on behalf of Sinatra.

The singer also denied in the deposition he was accompanied everywhere by personal bodyguards.

"I have never in my life purposely provoked anybody into any fight with me — never — for the single reason that in my kind of life I just could not win," he said in the deposition.

"Even if you win, you lose," he said.

But Sinatra said that during the past 35 years he had been dragged into "verbal bouts" that were "too countless to remember."

The People Deserve A Better Legislature

Gov. Ronald Reagan has joined those questioning the value of California's $52 million-a-year "fulltime legislature" with its biennial sessions.

In a statement released at his press conference last week, the governor said: "The time has come to objectively reevaluate the mechanics of the fulltime system."

THE GOVERNOR was understandably miffed. The legislature had just wound up its first two-year session by dumping more than 1,000 bills on his desk in the final week and refusing to confirm any of his final appointments.

The fulltime, two-year session, Reagan noted, "is a major departure from the days when the legislators met for a few months every other year, then returned to their stores, farms, businesses and professions — and to their constituents."

And he raised an important question: "I wonder if our move to a fulltime legislature hasn't inadvertently caused too many of our lawmakers to isolate themselves in Sacramento and to become overly conscious of their perquisites?"

ALTHOUGH HIGHLY critical of the so-called professionalization of our lawmaking body, the governor wasn't quite sure what should be done abut it.

He suggested a "blue-ribbon citizen task force" to assess the mechanics and performance of the legislature. A reporter asked whether he expected his successor as governor to appoint the task force. Reagan said he didn't know whether it should be appointed by governor or legislature "because of the separation of powers." And a reporter sensibly pointed out that any task force appointed by the legislature would be rather likely to produce a "whitewash." Committees can be stacked; and often are.

We share Governor Reagan's disenchantment with the legislature the voters wished upon themselves by passage of so-called "reform" propositions amending the state constitution. As Reagan said in his statement, "The California taxpayers deserve better."

We don't see the need for a "blue-ribbon citizen task force."

IT SEEMS PRETTY obvious that a legislature that leaves many important bills unacted-upon in a two-year session, that dumps more than 1,000 measures on the governor's desk in the final week, that proves more interested in voting its members increased pensions than in legislating to assist its constituents — it seems pretty obvious that such a legislature is a failure.

We suggest, not a "blue-ribbon" committee to mull over this fact, but an initiative to place on the ballot at the earliest opportunity a new constitutional amendment cutting the legislative session to perhaps six months per year, putting control of legislators' pay back in the hands of the people, and cutting that pay to where the fulltime legislator must become a figure of the past.

Any number of public-interest groups, ranging all the way from Common Cause to the California Taxpayers Association, should have the expertise to draft and push such an initiative. It would truly be nonpartisan.

A Real Swinger

Any late summer or fall afternoon, we are likely to hear the swishing of leaves in the bay tree and catch a glimpse of the furry, gray tail of a squirrel as it leaps from branch to branch. With great derring-do, these squirrels hop to the flimsy tips of the branches, apparently enjoying the swinging springiness of the ride. We guess they are searching for ripening bay fruits. But there is an element of seeming joy in their ease on the leafy trapeze.

'See No Problem, Hear No Problem' Motto Of Three Districts

Public officials occasionally rise above their usual mediocrity, inspiring awe as they reach for ever higher levels of fouling up.

This is the case with the threatened halt to bus service for some 600 Marin high school students, virtually all of them in the Tamalpais High School District. The last-minute crisis happened simply because everyone involved tried to practice the old bureaucratic game of "it isn't a problem until it's a crisis."

FIRST PRIZE goes to Marin County Transit District, second to Tamalpais High School District, and third to the Golden Gate Bridge District. The county transit district wins the booby prize by a mile, since it never told the high school district of its decision last April not to subsidize school buses.

The action by the county board was reported in the Independent-Journal, but if the brass at the high school district saw it, they just pretended it never happened.

Two weeks ago, we asked the assistant general manager of the county transit district when he finally got around to letting the high school district in on the big secret. Robert L. Harrison at first said it was "a few months ago," but he quickly slid through "some time ago" all the way down to "last week." He conceded "it would have been helpful" if the transit district had sent school officials a carbon of its letter advising the bridge district there would be no school bus subsidy.

Granted Harrison's failure to notify the high school district until the crisis was at hand, we still wonder at the inaction of bridge officials — who never answered the county's letter and let the matter drift until it hit the rocks.

Thanks to a move by bridge directors to cut off service next month if someone does not come up with $70,000 for the bus service, the impasse may be resolved. Everyone involved unquestionably will be quite proud if they can solve the affair, but it strikes us that all they are doing is cleaning up their own mess.

SPEAKING OF CLEANING up, bridge district officials promise that their buses will be cleaned far more thoroughly by next month. The arrival of 32 more buses, relieving pressure to use virtually every bus every day, will leave more time for cleaning crews. The end of September also should see completion of the district's bus base in San Rafael, and with it equipment for thorough cleaning.

ELECTRONIC GREMLINS have infiltrated the telephones at Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District. Every time a caller is put on hold, he gets a dash of hard rock music. Seems that radio KTIM-FM has its transmitter near the district office, and its signal somehow feeds into the telephone's hold system. Quite entertaining, but not the sort of thing one expects to hear at a sanitary district office.

Pardon Undermines Faith In Justice

By pardoning Nixon at this time, President Ford has undermined our faith in American justice and spent whatever good-will he still commanded. His action smacks of a deal. There must be someone somewhere in this country to serve as president who cannot be bought. We shall seek such a candidate for 1976.

Bills Behr Supported Do Not Authorize Strike

Your editorial of Sept. 5, stated that my position was made plain in a Senate Education Committee vote on AB 3254 in the closing week of the session which "was a repeat of last year's SB 400, mandating compulsory unionism for school employees and including the right to strike."

Neither AB 3254 nor SB 400 included the right to strike. In point of fact, the subject of strikes was not mentioned in either of these bills.

As you know, present law prohibits public employees from striking. I have consistently opposed the right of public employees to strike during my four years in the State Senate.

I do support collective bargaining for public employees. I know you have been strongly opposed to this concept in your editorial policy. This hardly justifies misreading AB 3254 and SB 400, copies of which I enclose.

PETER H. BEHR

San Rafael

(Senator Behr is correct. SB 400 and the virtually identical AB 3254 — for both of which he voted — did not mention strikes. They provided for a mediation and fact-finding process, but specified that it is not binding unless so agreed by both parties, i.e., school board and recognized teacher union. They provided for the "agency shop," in which all teachers could be required to pay union dues and assessments to the union recognized. And they forbade any teacher negotiating in his own behalf with the school board. We regret the error of stating that they also would legalize strikes by teachers, which are unlawful under case law in California. — Editor)

Saving Mill Valley Via The Boob Tube

A Mill Valley group identified in the press solely as "a citizen committee" has obtained an astrological reading on the village and its inmates.

And what do you suppose it has recommended for all the aches, ails, pains and promises possessed by the village?

This committee recommends that the very thing needed to bring fun, fulfillment for family . . . (etc.) . . . is a full-blown, town-wide cable-TV production boondoggle.

Yessir, that is just what the blown heads have in mind for all you out there. More boob tube living, not less. Moreover, they guarantee that the boobs you'll see, may be the guy and gal next door! Even you and me! . . .

Why they've even promised that their glory road to happiness will cost the city only a pittance of $6,138 per year. For that miserable sum all of us will be able to see ourselves on the boob glass, thus cut down our visits to the head shrinkers.

Before these stout and confident advisors begin to save us with our own dwindling funds, on the boob tube yet, will somebody please ask them for their credentials?

Are they the same committee who put the city into the senior citizens business there across from Safeway Store, on the least appropriate, least-likely-to-succeed site (for that use) in the state, at a present tax loss to the city ranging from $10,000 to $14,000 per year?

Or are they the citizen committee, perchance, which did the funky designing of Old Brown's Store?

Or could they be the committee which introduced the school board to Wrong and Wrong designers of Middle School, sometimes referred to as Pianoboxville Nowhere, Calif.? . . .

President's Obligation To American People

I have just sent the following letter to the president:

President Ford;

Your first obligation was not to Mr. Nixon, but to the American people. The American people have been agonizing over the immorality of the Vietnam War and of Watergate for nine long years. We were entitled to an adjudication of the Nixon participation in the corruption of America and Americans over Watergate.

You started your presidency on a high moral plane and we felt that you might bring back some feeling of integrity to high office. Your precipitous action on a Sunday leads us to believe that Mr. Jaworski was going to call for Nixon's indictment and you were heading him off at the pass. Whether the reason is cronyism, partyism, or the guidance which God provided, you have prevented the other shoe of judicial fulfillment from dropping. Fifty per cent or more of the American people and 36 members of the House of Representatives thought Mr. Nixon guilty enough to be impeached. You have interjected yourself between those people and the satisfaction of the process. Had Mr. Nixon been found guilty, you could have pardoned him. The judicial process would have been completed. As it is you have precluded the process.

Mr. Nixon is not entitled to special consideration because he was once president. The Nuremberg trials established the responsibility of all men, high and low, for their political crimes. In fact, Mr. Nixon should be regarded as more responsible than those . . . who are awaiting trial or are in jail for their related crimes.

I have lost confidence in you, Mr. President, at a time when I and America needed confidence more than anything else. Retribution for Mr. Nixon is not as important as restoration of the confidence of the American people in the constitutional process at this time. Your bold statement seems nothing more than a sanctimonious coverup for the payment of a political debt. You have soiled yourself with Watergate also. There was no need to do so.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Don't Count Democrats Out; Honeymoon May Not Last

WASHINGTON — With President Ford soaring in the mid-70s in the popularity polls, the Democrats look doomed to be a quarreling minority into an indefinite future. Their recent fight at the conference in Kansas City is taken as one more proof of decline and fall.

It may all be true. Between the left of center liberal-intellectuals and the right-leaning followers of George Wallace, the bicentennial year of 1976 may see the party fallen to pieces like the one-horse shay of another era.

But as Mark Twain remarked when he had the satisfaction of reading his own obituary, the pronouncement of doom may be slightly premature. Democratic National Chairman Robert Strauss believes the wounds of 1972 can be healed and unity established around a presidential candidate approximately in the center of the political spectrum.

STRAUSS HAS ALL along been conservative in his estimate of Democratic gains in the congressional elections in November. Before Richard Nixon's resignation, with the prospect of a long searing conflict over impeachment, he put the possible gain in House seats at 35 at the most. This contrasted with bold predictions of a sweep of at least 50.

His estimate today, after Ford as the new broom, is a conservative 20. The power of the incumbent is so great that the Republicans should hold a large portion of their present 187 seats. The Democrats have 248, which without any change is a hefty majority for organizing if not for ideological purposes.

The one-time hero of the liberal intellectuals, Eugene McCarthy, sent up a fanciful balloon the other day. He announced in Chicago that he was prepared to run for president on a third-party ticket. But the projected new movement was so ill-defined and so unrelated to the nitty gritty of money and organization in getting on the ballot that it looked like merely another headline-hunting expedition.

Keeping his friends in all wings of the party, Strauss has a kidding relationship with McCarthy.

Noting that the icon on the left had announced on several separate occasions that he would run for the Senate in New Hampshire, for Congress in his native Minnesota, and maybe for the Senate in Nevada, Strauss said, "Look Gene why don't you just run at large for anything that happens to come by you?"

SEN. GEORGE McGOVERN of South Dakota, who took the party in '72 down to shattering defeat, is running for re-election to the Senate. With Medal of Honor winner Leo Thorsness, who spent six years in a Hanoi prison, as the Republican candidate, the race could be close in conservative South Dakota.

Generous amounts of money on Thorsness' behalf are said to be coming into the state. And McGovern is working hard with his first-hand knowledge of farm and price issues to look like the native son come home after his wild forays into radical politics when he was the darling of the radical chic.

As for the right, Strauss believes that Governor Wallace of Alabama on a third-party ticket could be as much of a threat to the Republicans as to the Democrats. A Ford-Rockefeller ticket will look to populists in the South like Eastern seaboard tight money. They could vote the oldtime Democratic religion and deny the GOP the South that Nixon sought to solidify.

THIS IS STILL the Ford happy honeymoon. The president has not yet got down to wrestling with the threats of inflation and unemployment he has defined so eloquently. Based on the great groundswell of relief that came with the Nixon resignation, he can inspire confidence and hope so long wanting on the national level.

A lot can happen in two years in a world in which the balance both politically and economically is so precarious. But the Republicans have a great advantage. Their leaders, and presumably their ticket in 1976, are in place. They bridge a wide range of factionalism and opinion.

As for the opposition, they are without an acknowledged and rapidly rising leader. Whether the ultimate choice is named Kennedy, Jackson, Mondale, Mr. Anonymous, or, yes, Wallace, that choice can come only after the warring forces within the party are reconciled.

And that will be no mean feat, given the ambition, the feisty individualism, traditional among Democrats.

Nixon Resignation Introduces Americans To New Flexibility

I would like to go a little further along the line of thinking in this space last week on the subject of the likely long-range effect of recent changes of government in Washington on the American political system.

The most novel thing that has happened, it seems to me, is that the American people have learned that they can get a new president, and a new vice president as well, by methods other than party conventions and general elections.

By experience Americans are now accustomed both to the radical idea that the vacancy can be brought about, and also that it can be filled by what is a novel method for Americans.

This opens up the possibility for considerable further change. Having learned that resignation during a presidential term can be accommodated without damage to the public interest (in fact many would say to the great advantage) it might at some future time come to seem desirable to use this method for quite different reasons than were involved in the latest change.

FOR EXAMPLE, Gerald Ford will enter the 1976 presidential sweepstakes with a wide advantage over any competitor from either his own party or any other party.

Why not, therefore, use the technique of resignation and selection at some time in the future solely to improve the party's position by giving a possible successor some preliminary experience?

There is nothing any longer to prevent some future president from resigning a year or so before the end of his term in order to give his own chosen successor a head start on all rivals. Governor Rockefeller did precisely that in New York State.

In other words, a new element of flexibility has been added to the American political system. It has lost some of the old rigidity. No future president will ever need take it for granted that he will necessarily fill out his full four years in office once he has been elected.

SUBORDINATE to the above is the question whether this new flexibility (plus uncertainty) will solve the problem of avoiding in the future the excessive presidential power which has been building up from the Kennedy (Roosevelt, if you prefer) administration.

It will probably be a long time now before anyone will again assert the right of a president to make war without the approval of Congress.

Such a right was asserted on behalf of Lyndon Johnson by his then attorney general, Nicholas deB. Katzenbach. That was the moment when Sen. Eugene McCarthy announced that he "might have to do something about it." He did. It brought down Lyndon Johnson.

Should something more be done? Richard L. Strout, in his Monitor columns and elsewhere, has talked wistfully about the British parliamentary system.

IT SEEMS TO ME that Messrs. Strout and Schlesinger are both missing the main point. They are arguing over whether the United States might go over to a system in which the executive is blended with the legislative branch as in Britain.

As a matter of practical politics, it is highly unlikely that the United States will ever give up the separation of executive from legislative functions.

But does that necessarily mean that the head of state and the head of government must always be the same person?

Is it not possible that someday Americans might have a dignified and eminently worthy person elected as head of state by a bipartisan process that could select at will a prime minister who could be changed as easily as happens in France?

The loss of a head of state is painful. But no one greatly minds a change in the head of government. The departure of Richard Nixon was painful because he was a president. Had he been only a prime minister, there would have been no trauma.

Our Free Education System Bankrupting Poor Homer

Homer Hotchkins grumbled when he shelled out more than $200 for back-to-school clothes for his three children.

"They talk about the high cost of higher education. I'm getting wiped out by the high cost of lower education," he yelled at his wife, Mabel.

"Well, that ought to take care of it for awhile," she said. "They have all the clothes they need, including new gym suits."

HOTCHKINS WAS BEGINNING to simmer down when Sarah, his fourth grader, burst into the room with a handful of papers.

"Here," she said. "You have to sign this so I can go on field trips."

"Well, that will be fun," Hotchkins said.

"Oh, we're going on some neat trips," Sarah said. "See, the first one is to a special movie and a lunch in San Francisco and you have to give me $2.50."

"Hmmm! Well, okay. At least it's at a discount rate," Hotchkins said.

"And this paper is for my insurance. I think you have to give me some money for that too," Sarah said.

"Don't forget to get your milk money," her mother shouted from the kitchen.

"What is this, a raid on the national treasury?" Hotchkins said.

WITH SOME NOISE, Greg, his eighth grader, barged into the house. "What a weird school! The computer got the schedules all fouled up and now I have to take P. E. right after lunch."

"Well, maybe that way, you'll eat a lighter lunch and we'll save some money," Hotchkins said.

"By the way, dad, talking about money, I'm taking a special leathercraft course this year and we have to bring in $10 to buy the leather," Greg said.

"I think somebody around here should take a course in economics," Hotchkins said.

"I hate to bring this up now, Dad, but I'm taking music too and I'm going to have to rent a trumpet for the year," Greg said.

WHILE HOTCHKINS was mulling over the trumpet expense, Carolyn, his 10th grader, walked in.

"Hi ya, dad! How do you like this dress?"

"Very nice," Hotchkins said. "It's already paid for. What did you do at school today?"

"Oh, it was great," Carolyn said. "I have a lot of cute boys in my classes and I started my sewing class. I'm going to make my own clothes and save you money."

"That will be a switch."

"But first, I have to have $15 to buy the material," Carolyn said.

"What are they running down there, a school for the Rockefellers?" Hotchkins said.

"Oh, dad, don't be so grumpy! With all that material I can make a shirt for you, purple with orange swirls. There's one other thing, too, we have to put in our orders for the yearbook by next Friday, and that's $7.50."

"Didn't anybody hear President Ford say we have to tighten our belts?" Hotchkins demanded.

"PLEASE CALM DOWN dear, or you'll have a heart attack," Mrs. Hotchkins said.

"I can hardly wait for hot dog days, so I can go into bankruptcy," Hotchkins said.

"Well, while you're in a spending mood, I might as well ask too. I'm going to need a couple of bucks for Parent-Teacher Association dues," Mrs. Hotchkins said.

"Doesn't anybody understand? The Dow Jones averages are dropping like elevators and inflation is rampant," Hotchkins said.

"Don't worry, dear. If you're lucky, you'll have enough left over at the end of the year to pay your school taxes."

ART BUCHWALD

It Isn't Feeding Family— It's Feeding Sleeping Bags

WASHINGTON — I was very surprised to read in the newspaper last week that Mrs. Ford said her family was cutting down on their food bills as a way of fighting inflation. The reason why I was surprised was that Mrs. Ford has teen-agers, and there is no way under the sun that you can cut a food budget when you have teenagers living in the house. It isn't the immediate family that costs money — it's feeding everyone else's children that sends your food costs skyrocketing.

In the past most of us could get away with giving a strange child a glass of milk and a cookie. But in recent years we seem to be sustaining large masses of youth, which I have dubbed, for the want of a better name, the Sleeping Bag Generation.

Last month my grocery bill for a family of four on Martha's Vineyard was $791. This is what happened:

THREE SLEEPING bags showed up at the door. A voice from one of the sleeping bags said, "We're very good friends of your daughter Hilda, and she said we could camp on your property when we got here."

"I have no daughter named Hilda," I said.

"What's her name?" a voice from another sleeping bag asked.

"Jenny."

"That's it," the voice said. "We're good friends of Jenny, and she said we could sleep on your lawn so we won't be arrested and tortured by the police with chains and rubber hoses."

"We won't be any bother," a voice from another sleeping bag said. "We have stale doughnuts for dinner."

I GAVE permission for them to camp out on the lawn. When my daughter came home I informed her that three of her dearest friends had arrived and set up camp.

"Boys or girls?" Jenny asked.

"How the hell would I know?" I replied.

It turns out that sleeping bags require large amounts of nourishment. While those of us who lived in the house could get by on bluefish or eggs, the sleeping bags had to be fed steak, ham, imported cheeses, French bread, butter, and a good brand of beer.

Every day my daughter, who never did find out their names, carried down provisions to the sleeping bags. The zippers would open up automatically and they would consume $60 worth of groceries at a feeding.

In exchange for the food, the sleeping bags strummed music on a guitar in our living room while I was trying to watch the evening news.

AFTER THE SLEEPING bags departed, a new group of sleeping bags arrived and said they were friends of my son Edward. I probably would have been nicer except I have no son named Edward. The nearest thing to it was Joel. While it bothered me, it didn't seem to bother Joel. He took all the sleeping bags to Kronig's grocery store where they charged everything to me for a picnic they were holding with some other sleeping bags on the beach.

Now that I'm back in Washington, the sleeping bags are starting to show up here. Many turn out to be friends of the sleeping bags who camped on my property in Martha's Vineyard. If I refuse hospitality for them I am considered an ogre by my children, Hilda and Edward, or whatever their names are. But if I let them spread out on the grass I'm going to get another $800 grocery bill.

I'm sure Mrs. Ford is telling the truth when she sayd she's been able to cut back on her food bills. But I figure the only way she has been able to do it is by having the Secret Service boot all the goose-feather sleeping bag acquaintances of her children right off the White House lawn.

Casino Sites Owners Told Cleanup Rule

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — Owners of two proposed Lake Tahoe casinos have been directed to take measures to ensure against environmental damage, a Nevada deputy attorney general said yesterday.

Deputy Attorney General Bob Lyle said the U.S. Court of Appeals in San Francisoc granted a special order which allows the state to require work at the construction sites to guard against air and water pollution.

The appeals court had initially ordered a halt to all construction until it decides whether the Hotel Oliver and the Tahoe Palace received proper approval before it started building.

The sites were leveled and large mounds of dirt were built. The state human resources division had feared that when work was halted, that dust storms could result and there would also be a runoff of dirt into the lake. It asked the appeals court for special permission to order the owners to maintain the site by watering and other methods to halt the dust and possible erosion.

The human resources division applied for an emergency order last Friday.

Elderly Persons Used As Runners

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Police in the City of Rosario announced yesterday the arrest of a cocaine dealer who used a team of elderly men and women.

Authorities said the 38-year-old ringleader used six other men and women, all between the ages of 65 and 80, as messengers and deliverers.

Record Number Of Entries In Weekend Of Dog Shows

A record-breaking entry of 2,502 dogs will converge on the Marin County Fairgrounds this weekend, for a series of dog shows Saturday and Sunday.

Eleven different one-breed dog fanciers' groups will have their combined specialty show at the grounds from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, hosted by the Sir Francis Drake Kennel Club.

On Sunday, the Sir Francis Drake club will have its 15th annual all-breed championship show, the largest such event ever held in Marin County. The entry is up more than 300 dogs over last September's show, according to Dr. Dorothy L. Morse of Corte Madera, club president.

A total of 116 breeds will be judged on Sunday, with owners coming from as far away as England and Mexico to compete. The most popular breed at the show, in terms of number of dogs, will be poodles, with 146 entries in the three sizes of the breed; second will be the Siberian huskies, with 140 entries, and third Doberman pinschers with 131. There will be judging both in breed conformation and obedience, in a score of rings alongside the civic center lagoon, on the island, and inside the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

On Saturday, the combined specialty shows will be held by the American Manchester Terrier Club, California Airedale Terrier Club, Fox Terrier Club of Northern California, Kerry Blue Terrier Club of Northern California, Miniature Schnauzer Club of Northern California, San Francisco Bay Scottish Terrier Club, Golden Gate Boxer Club, Golden Gate English Setter Club, Gordon Setter Club of America, Old English Sheepdog League of Northern California and Poodle Club of Central California.

The Golden Gate Dachshund Club will hold its specialty Saturday at the Sportsman's Lodge in Novato, and the Doberman Pinscher Club of Northern California will hold its specialty Saturday at the Alvarado Inn in Novato.

Admission to the all-breed show Sunday at the civic center will be $1 for adults, $2.50 for families. The gates will open at 7 a.m.; judging will continue from 8 a.m. to about 5:30 p.m.

Commodity Bill Is Passed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed by voice vote today a bill to strengthen federal regulation of the nation's $500 billion-a-year commodity futures trading market.

The measure brings under government regulation all agricultural and other commodities, goods and services traded on exchanges.

The bill now goes to a conference with the House, which passed a modified version in April.

YOUR CHILD'S HEALTH

Three Cs Of Child Rearing

(Second of 10 Articles)
By ALTON BLAKESLEE and BRIAN SULLIVAN

"Children are sticks to beat parents with."

"Children are for love, and for fun."

The first assertion is an old folk saying, reflecting the inevitability of frustrations and problems arising between parents and children. Some parents react by beating on their children.

The other statement comes from a psychiatrist, and reflects the attitude of some parents right from the start.

TO ESTABLISH and maintain good mental health in children, relax, enjoy them and follow the "three Cs" — be Constant, Calm and Considerate, says one child psychiatrist, Dr. Wayne Weisner of Port Washington, N.Y., who has seven children himself.

"Try to walk in the child's shoes, remembering what it was like to be a child. A sense of humor is important. And treat the child as a person, an individual, not just a 'kid.' Give your children trust, praise and encouragement, a sense of being wanted. It's easy to forget all the good things they're doing — then the destructive things come to mind."

"THE HAPPIER and more satisfied you are yourself, the better parent you will be," says Dr. Ner Littner of the Institute for Psychoanalysis in Chicago. When parents have unsatisfied needs, they tend to use children to satisfy those needs. The children suffer.

Put yourself, not your children, first in your life, psychiatrists agree. You must be happy in order to do well by them. Give up on trying to be a "perfect parent," for there is nonsuch.

LISTEN to children. Don't make them afraid of you.

"You cannot lie to a child and get away with it," Dr. Littner says. "Your tone of voice and other mannerisms are more important to him than your words. After all, he's lived with you all his life."

Sometimes bad behavior is a cry for help, Dr. Weisner observes. The child may be saying, "No one listens to me. Can't someone control me?"

CHILDREN NEED discipline in order to become civilized. They even want it. They accept it most readily from parents who are firm, but always fair. They are quick to spot hypocrisy, and have a peculiar kind of radar to read a parent's mind.

Both parents must be in total agreement on what the discipline should be, otherwise the child's radar picks up the disagreement, and an implicit invitation to disobey.

DON'T NAG your child about everything. Pick the issues really vital to you and fight there, not on 100 different fronts.

Children need to become independent, but too much permissiveness is harmful. Protecting a child against himself is just as important as loving him. He won't feel protected if he is allowed to get away with too much.

Encourage rather than dampen a child's curiosity.

Respect their need for privacy. Respect their individuality.

Rear children so they will become independent of you, and not need you.

Guild Sets Cruises To Petaluma

The Petaluma Community Guild is sponsoring a two-part Petaluma River cruise on Sunday, Sept. 22.

The morning cruise group, including children, will leave Petaluma by bus for Fisherman's Wharf and cross the bay into the Petaluma River. Lunch will be served aboard the Harbor Princess and the boat will dock at the Santa Fe-Pomeroy facilities in Petaluma at approximately 3:30 p.m.

The evening cruise, limited to adults, will leave Petaluma at 4:30 p.m. and arrive in San Francisco about 8 p.m., where buses will return passengers to Petaluma. Dinner and dancing are planned for the evening boat cruise.

All profits from this charity event are used to purchase eyeglasses for children in Petaluma School District and to maintain the supply of convalescent equipment which is loaned free to patients needing items for recovery priods.

Anne Brainerd and Shirley McDonald are co-chairmen for the cruise. Other chairmen are Ruth McNulty and Fran Parent, food co-chairmen; Alice Handy, bus transportation; Helen Gallagher, wharf party; Alberta Kyle, tickets; and Tish Battaglia, publicity.

'Parenting' Workshop Scheduled

A workshop on "parenting" will be held Saturday for professional and lay persons intersted in exploring how new parents can best cope with their roles.

The workshop will include a keynote speech by Dr. Libby Colman of Sausalito, author of "Pregnancy: The Psychological Experience," and exploration of questions about such topics as child development, single parenthood and the cultural aspects of mothering.

Classes in "parenting" are enjoying a boom in the Bay Area at present and are, according to workshop chiarman Faith Eckhoff, R.N., of Novato, an outgrowth of classes for expectant parents.

MRS. ECKHOFF, who has taught expectant parent classes for the Red Cross for many years, said she began her parenting classes in response to an obvious need.

"After my students had their babies, they had a whole new set of problems. They often brought to their parental experience great and unreal expectations about what life with baby was going to be like. They found that their baby was not a little doll who sleeps quietly in a bassinet, eats every four hours, wets occasionally and never, never cries.

"I felt the whole experience of parenthood could be so much more satisfying and successful if there were supports given through such devices as parenting classes.

"IN THIS TIME and in this place, many young people, parents for the first time, are without friends or families to lean upon, or with whom to share their concerns. Many of them would call me to ask questions they thought were too trivial to bother the doctor about: 'My baby keeps crying — am I doing something wrong?' 'My child isn't sitting up yet — is he all right?'"

Saturday's workshop, while open to parents, "is really geared for professionals," Mrs. Eckhoff said.

The workshop will open at Indian Valley Colleges (in their temporary home at the old Pacheco School) with registration at 9 a.m. Saturday. Dr. Colman will speak first, followed by a panel of persons who have taught parenting classes: Mrs. Eckhoff, Jill Lowe of San Francisco Community College, Mary Jane McKown of Education for Childbirth Association and Suellen Nordemann of the U.S. Navy. Moderator will be Elizabeth Hannon of Novato.

AFTER LUNCHEON at the Officers Club at Hamilton Air Force Base, discussion groups will be conducted by Jini Lama, program director of Single Mothers of Marin ("The Single Parent"); Miriam Lowry and Susan Collins of the Agency for Infant Development ("Developmental Concerns of Parents"); Dr. John Michael, pediatrician ("The Growth and Development of Parents") and Diane Santos, pediatric nurse practitioner ("Cultural Aspects of Mothering?").

Pre-registration is suggested.

Plant Problem

Houseplants often suffer as much from too much attention as from not enough in such areas as watering, lighting and fertilizing.

New, Unusual Weight Loss Method In Mill Valley Clinic

By BETTY FROST

Feeling a little sloppy as summer ends? Wishing you could shed 10 pounds or more?

The Mill Valley Clinic, part of a seven-branch Bay Area chain called Bariatric Medical Clinics, has joined the fight for weight reduction.

The Bariatric method, presided over by Dr. Manfred Adami, a dermatologist and ophthalmologist, stresses a lot of tender loving care, as well as certain props to help the erstwhile fatty over the bumps.

Including — with some patients — acupuncture.

Kat Cunningham, special projects coordinator for the new weight loss clinic, said a tiny steel staple is inserted in the ear at a key point for the digestive system. (The acupuncture chart indicates the exact spot.)

As the temptation to overeat approaches, the patient has but to twitch his ear — and instantly feels as full as though he had finished a seven-course dinner.

Or, as Mrs. Cunningham said to a patient, departing after her daily check-up, "You drink your parsley tea while everyone else is having the goodies, o.k.?"

DR. ADAMI gives would-be patients a thorough physical examination which includes tests for cholesterol level, thyroid problems, high blood pressure, and he takes a complete medical history. On the basis of his findings, he tailors a program to the individual's needs.

A fat-free diet in the 500 to 800 calorie range is usually recommended. Each day the patient returns to the clinic for weighing and injections of vitamins and Human Chorionic Gonadotropin, familiarly known as HCG.

The HCG is a substance found in the membrane which anchors the human fetus to the uterus. Originally it was extracted from the urine of pregnant women after it was discovered by a physician in Rome 20 years ago. Now it is manufactured synthetically. The HCG injections convert body fat to glucose, which is then burned for energy, causing weight loss, according to the Bariatric Clinic literature. Injections of vitamins B-12 and B6 give the patient energy and a sense of well being.

Coupled with a low calorie, fat free diet, and one day of fasting each week (when only water and tea are allowed), a weight loss of five pounds a week is estimated. Two meals a day are permitted on the program.

Patients range from those who need to lose 100 pounds or more to ballet dancers and airline stewardesses who want to trim five pounds off their weight quickly. Both men and women are enrolled in the program.

The Spartan diet list includes certain fruits (no fruit juices), meat, but no beef except for lean beef heart, veal, chicken breast with skin removed, white fish or shell fish, vegetables, especially green leafy ones, one bread stick or one piece of melba toast a day, and no more than two cups of coffee. Unlimited amounts of black tea and water are sanctioned. No sugar, no butter, margarine, oil or shortening are included in regimen.

THE REQUIRED daily visits are encouraging to patients. Matty Goldberg, licensed vocational nurse with the clinics, comes to the Mill Valley operation once a week. She explained that she had "been there" herself, having gone from 203 pounds down to her present weight of 130 pounds using the program. She understands that heavy people are far from jolly, that they often overeat because of fears and anxieties. As weight loss is achieved they need to be aware of a changing self-image.

A man patient, finished with the day's check-up, was complimented by Mrs. Cunninham for his good prograss.

After he had left, she explained to the nurse that he had had a most serious lapse from dietary discipline the day before.

"He ate an enchilada," she told Miss Goldberg. Both women shuddered.

Another aid in the wayward is a pre-packaged food distribution. Everything has been measured and balanced, with all calories accounted for. These kits come to each clinic daily. "It is a no-chance method," according to Mrs. Cunningham.

The use of both acupuncture

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

She Invents A Big Social Life To Live Up To Folks' Image

RAP:

When I was little, I used to bring home lots of valentines from school — all signed by different kids. Except they were all signed by me. That was how I got started fooling my parents into thinking I was very popular. You see, they always figured I would be the best in my class in every way, and I hated to tell them I was best only in grades. But the kids just ignored me.

I'd go to the parties or out to the playground on weekends and tell Mom how much fun I had — which I didn't! When my one girlfriend called up, I'd pretend to my folks she was different people. Dad isn't well, so I had an excuse for not bringing a bunch of kids home with me.

I'd tell them about how I danced every dance at the junior hi dances, (ha!) and I even invented a "boyfriend," knowing Mom wouldn't let me date, so I wouldn't have to produce him. (She was popular in school, and takes it for granted I will be.)

A lot of times I cried myself to sleep out of loneliness. I'm scared to talk to boys — and the girls still mostly ignore me. I'm not bad looking, just dull, I guess. Not like Mom and Dad, who are the greatest.

Now that I'm 16, Mom says I can date, and she's expecting me to — she figures all those guys I talked about are just standing in line!

I can't let my folks down. What'll I do? — LONELY LIAR

L.L.:

I'd relieve the pressure by leveling with your mother. When you no longer need spend all your energy "proving" you are what you aren't, you and she can combine forces to prove you aren't stuck with what you presently are.

Where did you ever get the idea that parents should be shielded, when their biggest job is to HELP. Let them! — HELEN

P.S. But before you take My advice, read what Sue has to say:

The biggest key to popularity is: interest in others (both things and people).

Look alive! Ask questions, help someone, volunteer, join clubs, develop a specialty you're proud of. It won't kill you to make the first move — almost everybody welcomes a friendly smile, a compliment, and a girl who's a good listener.

(Try these suggestions first before you tell your parents you're a "failure." Maybe there'll be no need to tell them!) — SUE

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

I have a cousin who has the brattiest three kids in the world. She's not much better, but I feel sorry for her because she's just divorced and still sad.

She asks me to come clear 'cross town (the bus costs 50 cents) to baby-sit and then she never pays me. She goes out three times a week (to forget her ex-husband, she says) and everybody knows what she does with her dates. (Some forgetting!)

I've given up dates just to keep her company, but she even makes me bring my own food. She's always asking me to pick up something at the store for her, but never pays me back.

I'm a person who can't say "No." What can I do ? — K.D.

DEAR K!

Say "NO!!!" — SUE

DEAR K:

Really, it isn't hard, after the first time. — HELEN

'Recycled Oldies' Can Be Valuable Furniture Buys

By EMILY MALINO
(Distributed by United Features Syndicate)

It's easy to buy new. There are so many good looking pieces of furniture available today that if you were to go to any representative furniture or department store, you could just about close your eyes and point and still chose something chic.

But buying new costs more and it often nets you something less valuable than what I call a recycled oldie. The quality of older furniture, manufactured 20 to 40 years ago, is undeniably better than most furniture today.

Recycled oldies — chairs, tables or chests — can be deeply stylish as well. You can always paint them or reduce their finish to raw wood and a wax or oil finish. You can add new knobs or pulls or squishy thick pillows for seats.

I often buy those maple short poster beds leftover from the 40s — still being marketed at today's inflated prices, by the way. For a few dollars in a second-hand shop, you can get a decent hardwood head and footboard with a frame to support your box-spring and mattress.

Paint the wood in a white gloss paint, covering the mattress and spring with a bold sheet patterened in black and white or with a geometric Mexican serape and add a half-dozen throw pillows in bright colors. Now place the whole ensemble lengthwise against a rich, dark, wall, add a shing white plastic coffee table on wheels and you have an elegant sofa-bed for an overnight guest or the perfect solution for a one-room apartment.

Another good buy are those old oak kitchen tables, coming up strong after 60 or 70 years of forced retirement. For a small dining room I chose one with a good clumpy pedestal. I removed the top and sprayed the base and spiral shaft in gloss white appliance paint, which makes a very durable washable finish, and made a new large round top of bright white plastic laminate, with a built-up edge to make it thick and hefty to balance the look of the sturdy base.

Around this giant centerpiece I used chairs of the same period, but made today, with black frames and cane seats and backs. This group, placed on a random width hardwood floor stained dark and against deep navy walls, makes a startling but classic background for bright color table accessories.

In much the same way, I've used an old bureau of uncertain vintage, painted it matte black and used new white porcelain knobs, placing it in an all-white entrance foyer under a modern chrome-framed mirror.

And I've taken cheap bentwood chairs of no value and sprayed them with one bright color over another, letting some of each color show, making a private rainbow of each chair, and used six of these around a modern glass dining table.

WEIGHT

Donald W. Sower, executive director of the Marin Medical Society, said, "We are concerned over the possible premature application of acupuncture to patients. The safety of American medicine has been built on the scientific evaluation of each technique before it becomes a widely held concept in medical practice. A potentially valuable technique, hastily applied, may in effect prove to be bad for the patient. We believe that serious study ought to be given to acupuncture, but at this time it is more propertly performed in the course of scientific investigation. The manner in which the scientific investigation is carried on is determined by good medical practice, and the usual protocol for scientific research should be observed. The American Medical Association has research in prograss of acupuncture."

REGARDING HUMAN Chorionic Gonadotropin, Sower said, "There is not sufficient evidence of its efficacy to justify the treatment of obesity with HCG at this time. While it is true that the Food and Drug Administration has approved it for use in treating a gonadal disorder in males, it has not approved it for use in obesity. The pharmacological effects of HCG have not as yet been proven useful in the treatment of obesity."

"When you go to your doctor and he advises you to lose weight, he gives you a diet, but no supportive treatment," Mrs. Cunningham said.

"They just say 'push yourself away from the table' ", Miss Goldberg agreed. "Like me, a lot of our patients have tried everything."

Meagher Named To Planner Post

The Fairfax Town Council last night appointed Glenn B. Meagher to a seat on the town planning commission vacated by the resignation of Fred Lakosky. (Another Fairfax Town Council story, page 1)

The action came after the 63-year-old Meagher angrily withdrew his application for the post and stormed from council chambers, saying the city was lagging in filling the post.

The council, started by Meagher's move, promptly voted to appoint him to the seat, saying he was the most qualified of three candidates for the post. Meagher, told of the council's action by telephone, accepted the appointment.

The council apparently sparked Meagher's ire when it reaffirmed a policy of seeking applicants for city posts for 60 days after a vacancy occurs. The commission seat was vacated 30 days ago. The council waived that policy in the wake of Meagher's walkout.

Meagher, a former newsman and Montgomery Ward Co. executive, is a veteran council watcher who ran unsuccessfully for a council seat in 1972. He lost a bid for appointment to the council last April.

Meagher lives at 7 Crest Road.

Burned Studio To Be Rebuilt

BURBANK (UPI) — As fire investigators sifted through the debris from a multimillion dollar fire that blackened one-fourth of the Columbia Ranch Studio, plans were being made to rebuild the sound stages and sets that were destroyed in Sunday's blaze.

"We're going to rebuild it immediately," said Robert K. Hagel, president of Burbank Studios, owners of the ranch. Hagel said demolition and heavy debris removal would begin tomorrow.

A spokesman for the Burbank Fire Prevention Bureau said it would be a few days before it could be determined how the fire started.

The Burbank Studios was formed more than two years ago from a merger of Columbia Pictures and Warner Brothers.

Moratorium On Building In Fairfax Is Extended

The Fairfax Town Council last night extended for up to 60 days its building moratorium.

The council slapped the ban on issuance of building permits for 90 days last April 8, pending adoption of an open space plan as required by the state. The ban was extended last July to Sept. 9.

Councilmen last night said the ban must be extended again pending adoption of the open space plan by the city and acceptance of the plan by the state.

The council noted that the firm of Wallace, McHarg, Roberts and Todd has completed a draft open space plan, and said that plan will be considered by the town planning commission at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Fairfax Women's Club.

The council will view the plan at 8 p.m. Sept. 19 in the club.

Ross 4-H Club Will Meet In Hub City

The Ross Valley 4-H Club, seeking new members, will hold its first meeting of the year Sept. 19 at 7:30 p.m. at the Brookside School multi-purpose room, San Anselmo. Future meetings will be held on the third Thursday of each month.

Information on the club may be obtained from the county 4-H club office at the Marin Civic Center.

Alf Landon, 87, Supports Ford

TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI) — Alfred M. Landon took a horseback ride yesterday through the hills of his West Topeka, Kan., estate on the occasion of his 87th birthday, then paused to say he would not talk about President Ford's pardon of Richard Nixon.

"I think we should all hold off commenting until we see what happens," said the former governor and 1936 GOP presidential candidate.

Landon also said that Ford is plagued now with problems of inflation. "I assume he is trying to get by those and I think we should go along," he suggested.

Marinwood Adds Fourth Park Job

Marinwood park and recreation commissioners last night added a fourth project to the things they hope to do with the district's $12,108 share of state park bonds.

The board voted to apply for $2,500 to help restore the landmark Dixie schoolhouse alongside Miller Creek, according to Genevieve Bolding, secretary of the Marinwood Community Services District.

The panel earlier decided to spread its share of the state bond issue among proposed county purchase of the St. Vincent property for open space, buying additional open space in Marinwood and developing the district's present open space with trails and other facilities.

The Marinwood Parks and Recreation Commission also:

FIRE — Voted to ask area Boy Scout groups to help reseed recently burned ridgelands with rye grass and wildflowers.

FEES — Continued for further discussion, proposed fees for district-sponsored snow trips and fees for group picnics.

MOWER — Ordered replacement of the district's mowing machine, at a cost of $2,800.

TENNIS — Voted to set fees for 1975 tennis classes the same as this year, but asked recreation director William A. Gordon to seek a tennis pro to teach advanced classes next year.

ADJOURNED — To 8 p.m. Oct. 8.

New World Pogo Stick Champ Feeling Better Than His Feet

Brian Partenfelder has a sore neck and blisters on each of his feet today, but that doesn't keep him from being a happy young man.

The 11-year-old Novato lad laid claim to the world record for pogo stick jumping yesterday after 19,111 jarring bounces.

The steady thump-thump-thump of his pogo stick was heard from 9:30 a.m. to 12:27 p.m. in his garage at 185 Cabro Court, accompanied by the more quiet counting of his mother, Mary, and his friend, Bruce Mackey of 135 Cabro Court. That works out to two jumps per second.

"I wanted to break the record by a lot so nobody would catch up to me," said the sixth grader at West Novato Elementary School. He gave himself a margin of nearly 2,000 over what he thought was the previous record, 17,354.

The Guinness Book of World Records, the authority for everything from fastest shave to loudest snore, lists an apparently outdated mark of 11,052 set in 1971.

Mrs. Mackey said she did not know if they would submit Brian's record to the Guinness office for official listing.

"I don't know why I did it," said Brian. "About a year ago I was jumping like 3,000 times, making my own record, so I looked up the world record and decided to break it. I did 10,700 about two weeks ago.

"I decided I would stop about 12:30, and I stopped a little before."

Brian did not pause for food or water during his jumping, "but my mom and Bruce threw water over my head every once in a while."

Champagne Reception Set Sunday For Hill

A champagne reception for A. Alan Hill of San Rafael, Republican nominee in the Ninth Assembly District, will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Novato home of C. E. Butner, 221 Michele Circle.

The event will be Hill's first formal campaign appearance of the fall drive for the November election. He is opposed by Democrat Michael Wornum of Mill Valley.

KORTUM — William Kortum of Petaluma, candidate for Sonoma County's Second Supervisorial District seat, will open his fall campaign at 6:30 p.m. Saturday with a celebration at the Petaluma Veterans Memorial Building. Cocktails will be followed by dinner and dancing to Clouds, a local band.

WALDIE — Rep. Jerome R. Waldie of Concord, unsuccessful candidate in June for the Democratic nomination for governor, will speak at 4 p.m. on Sept. 21 at the Kentfield home of Tom Thorner, 93 Kent Avenue. Waldie will discuss "the American People in a New Political Climate." The event is sponsored by Marin Alternative. Admission is $3, and $1 for students.

Rohnert Park Picks Its Queen

Eighteen-year-old Gloria Canales has been chosen the 1974 Miss Rohnert Park.

The daughter of Alicia Canales was selected from among 10 contestants Saturday at the 13th Annual Rohnert Park Beauty Pageant held as part of the city's Founders' Day Celebration.

First runnerup was Laurie Seale, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jason Seale, and second runnerup was Delores Ford, daughter of Helen Ford.

Miss Canales won a $125 cash prize, according to Contest Director Audrey Chaon, and gift certificates and merchandise donated by the city and local merchants.

About 400 residents attended the pageant at the Rohnert Park Junior High School, Mrs. Chaon said.

Hanna Ranch Development Plan Backed

Precise plans for the first phase of Hanna Ranch development, 24.5 acres of commercial area, were approved last night by the Novato Planning Commission.

The area northeast of the Rowland Boulevard-Highway 101 interchange is slated to be the site of a K-Mart store, restaurant and service station.

The plan by Novato Center Inc. provides parking for 985 cars and six acres for commercial recreation, potentially a recreation vehicle park.

The vote was 6-1 with commissioner Richard L. O'Connell dissenting.

Commissioners also approved precise plans by North Pacific Construction Co. for the San Marin Neighborhood Shopping Center on 7.5 acres at the northwest corner of San Marin and San Andreas drives.

The plans calls for 57,000 feet of building area housing a supermarket and other retail tenants.

The commission also denied an appeal by architect William Kelly of conditions imposed by the Novato Plan Review Committee on remodeling of the Carlile House, 853 Reichert Avenue, for use as an office building.

Delay Asked On Hamilton Fire Pact

The Marinwood Fire Commission last night recommended against renewing its mutual aid agreement with Hamilton Air Force Reserve Base officials until the base settles its difficulties with the Novato Fire Protection District.

The Novato board and Hamilton officials are to meet at 7:30 p.m. today to discuss whether the Navy can supply as many firefighters and trucks as the Air Force formerly used to protect the military housing and buildings at the base. The Air Force has moved to cut its protection back to only the property still administered by the Air Force.

Marinwood Fire Chief Gaylord E. Bonfield explained that unless Novato and base officials work out a new agreement, Marinwood might find itself having to give first response to a base fire, "and we don't have enough manpower or equipment to be first in."

Bonfield reported that commissioners also discussed new rules, regulations and uniform requirements for firemen, but postponed action until after a fire union meeting tonight.

RICHARD COURIER
Takes college job

College Has New Campus Safety Head

A 10-year veteran of the Novato Police Force yesterday put in his first day at a new job.

Richard Courier, 34, of 1716 Pauline Way, Petaluma, is the new director of public safety at Sonoma State College in Rohnert Park.

The new post combines law enforcement with fire and crime prevention and involves campus security officers in the public safety aspects of campus design, according to a college spokesman.

Courier replaces Chief of Security Demar Clayson, who retired in January after eight years on the job.

Until yesterday, Courier was a lieutenant with the Novato Police Department's service and administration division. He also had been acting chief of police at times.

He graduated from Sonoma State last month, receiving a bachelor's degree in criminal justice administration.

Courier also holds an associate of arts degree in police science from the College of Marin.

He joined the Novato Police Force in 1964 as a patrolman and has served since as a juvenile sergeant, detective sergeant and patrol sergeant.

Courier is a trustee of the Old Adobe Union School District and a former president of the Petaluma Valley Homeowners Association.

While working for the city of Novato, Courier was president and vice president of the Novato Public Employees Credit Union, and he served as a director of the City Employees Association and the Novato Police Association.

Bicyclist Injured In Spill On Sunday

Mark Tickler, 20, of Green Bay, Wis., was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital with a sprained neck and cuts suffered Sunday in a bicycle crash on White's Hill near Fairfax.

The Highway Patrol said he was bicycling down the hill on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard about 1:30 p.m. when the vehicle hit a rock and overturned. Tickler was thrown into the road.

An Outdoor Cafe Has Rough Going

Cotati's first outdoor cafe, envisioned by Roger Shapiro as an al fresco adjunct to his Last Great Hiding Place had a rough go last night before the city planning commission.

The cafe is actually a redwood decked patio next to the existing sandwich shop and movie house at 8240 Old Redwood Highway, and Shapiro had asked for a use permit to allow outdoor restaurant operations in commercial districts like his.

The problem was that the patio is directly adjacent to an apartment building occupied by several elderly persons. They and their landlord, Ethel Clothier, came to last night's meeting armed with a petition against the patio and with Santa Rosa lawyer John F. De Meo, who told the commission the patio would produce noise which would make the apartments unlivable.

The patio is directly below windows which lead to the apartments' bedrooms and bathrooms, DeMeo said, and the chatter of diners and clatter of plates would constitute an invasion of privacy for the tenants.

Complicating the case is the convoluted legal status of the apartment building — apartments are nonconforming uses in their commercial zone, and the zoning ordinance was recently amended to allow outdoor eateries in the same zone, the commissioners noted, apparently placing the law on Shapiro's side.

As commissioner John Norton summed up the situation, "We are faced with protecting something that shouldn't be there in the first place (the apartments which predate the zoning laws) — but we have to protect them because there are people living there."

Shapiro, has offered to erect plant-festooned trelliswork to shield the windows from the light and noise of the patio, although the neighbors last night said they reject the idea because it would restrict air and light.

While commissioner David Brown called the case a dilemma, Norton argued that the commission should make a decision at that meeting rather than put it off until later because "we know it's going to be appealed no matter which way we go."

Commissioner Eve Kitchen's motion to approve the permit garnered yes votes from herself and chairman Adrienne Swenson, a no vote from Norton and no vote at all from Brown.

Mrs. Swenson said the two affirmative votes to one negative meant the motion passed. DeMeo told her the parliamentary interpretation, like the use permit approval itself, would require further study.

In related action. The commission granted an outdoor cafe use permit to the Inn of the Beginning, the rock music emporium across the street from The Hiding Place. The Inn's cafe will be behind it, unlike the Hiding Place's, which fronts on the sidewalk. The permit for the Hiding Place's theater also was renewed.

The Cotati Planning Commission Also:

NURSERY — Continued to Sept. 23 a public hearing on a use permit application by Andrew Harris and Schuyler Hoyt for a plant nursery at 1600 La Plaza. The commission was undertain of the facility's proposed design.

AMBULANCE — Ruled that ambulance dispatch offices are a use similar to hospitals and therefore are allowable in R-4 high density residential and professional districts. The decision was requested by the Pioneer Ambulance Co.

TRAFFIC — Was told by planning director Susan Boehlje that RGM Associates, the city's traffic consultant, will be instructed to coordinate its efforts with the general plan review program "in order that the two studies do not work at cross purposes to one another," at the same time meeting state requirements for the plan's traffic circulation element.

Plane Victims' Bodies Recovered From Lake

I-J Special Report

NAPA — Navy divers have recovered the bodies of two men killed in May when their light plane crashed into Lake Berryessa here.

Authorities using dental charts identified the crash victims as Thomas C. Benson, 36, of Petaluma, and Jeffrey C. Watson, 22, of San Rafael.

The single-engine plane apparently collided with a high tension wire above the lake and went straight into the water, according to witnesses.

There it remained for nearly four months, unreachable by divers, sitting in 200 feet of water.

On Friday, Archie Ford of Yountville, an employee of the Mare Island Shipyard in Vallejo managed to hook a grappling device onto the aircraft and pull it up to about 35 feet below the surface, according to Napa County sheriff's deputies.

Navy divers from the Alameda Naval Air Station used inflatable devices to raise the plane to the surface Saturday.

Both men died of massive head injuries, the Napa County coroner reported.

Business Control

The Sausalito City Council, meeting at 8 p.m. today in city hall on Bridgeway, will consider a measure that would give the city power to deny applications for businesses on Caledonia Street if there already are enough similar establishments to serve residents.

EVEL KNIEVEL
A 'metal failure'

Evel Knievel Bids Jump Site Goodbye

BUTTE, Mont. (UPI) — Evel Knievel flew over the Snake River Canyon yesterday in an airplane and waved goodbye. "I'm not going back," he said.

He flew to his home here after his attempt to cross the canyon in his steam-powered Skycycle X2 failed Sunday. He was met by a cheering crowd and a motorcade.

The daredevil, who earned $9 million for the stunt, made it clear he wouldn't try again.

"Today I flew over the Snake River Canyon for the last time, and I waved a final goodbye," he said.

Knievel said the premature release of the parachute that caused the skycycle to brake and drift down the 600-foot-deep canyon was not his fault or the rocket team's. He called it "metal failure."

"But there was no failure with God because he made the wind blow, and he blew me to the side of that canyon and I lived."

He had face lacertations and bruises but suffered no serious injuries. The event grossed about $21 million for the promoters.

Knievel said he blacked out when the rocket blasted off from the launching pad in an attempt to loop over the quarter-mile canyon near Twin Falls, Idaho.

"I didn't know what was happening but after the skycycle chutes opened I woke up again. It was as if somebody put the brakes on. I ripped my visor away. Then terror got to me because I knew that if I went into the river I would drown.

"All the time I was headed down, I was trying to get out of the skycycle because I thought I was going into the river. My straps were fastened in such a way that I couldn't get out."

Of his brush with death he said: "I would have rather had a happy landing on the other side, but I don't consider being defeated by that canyon a loss." His eyes moistened as he added: "You really don't know how proud I am."

Dangerous Occupation

OTTAWA (AP) — Consumers' association of Canada reports that motorists risk serious injury and possible death if they use their mouths to siphon gasoline from one car gas tank to another.

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 10, the 253rd day of 1974 with 112 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter.

American physicist Arthur Compton was born Sept. 10, 1892.

On this day in history:

In 1813, U.S. naval units under the command of Capt. Oliver Perry defeated a British squadron in the Battle of Lake Erie.

In 1846, Elias Howe received a patent for the sewing machine.

In 1889, Empress Elizabeth of Austria-Hungary was assassinated by an anarchist.

In 1962, 42 persons died in the crash of a U.S. Air Force jet plane near Mt. Spokane in Washington state.

A thought for the day: American essayist, poet and philosopher Ralph Waldo Emerson offered this advice, "Make yourself necessary to somebody."

WITH ACE

West opened the jack of hearts, and South won with the ace. He entered dummy with the ace of trumps in order to lead a diamond. There was, after all, some remote chance that East had the ace of diamonds and would fail to play it.

No such luck. West had the ace of diamonds and took it. West led another heart, and South won with the king.

It was now necessary to strip all of the safe cards out of the West hand. Declarer led a trump to dummy, ruffed a diamond, ruffed a heart in dummy and ruffed another diamond.

This reduced West to five cards, which were obviously all spades in view of the bidding. The stage was now set for the key play.

CAUSES DOWNFALL

West couldn't refuse the trick, since then South would lead another spade to dummy's king. West had to take the ace of spades and return a spade.

This was very helpful to South. If West led his jack of spades, dummy could take the king, and South would later win with the ten. If West led a low spade, South could let it ride around to his ten. Either way, the contract was assured.

Do You Want
A BETTER DEAL
On The SAME New Car?

All new car dealers have the same models, styles, colors and optional equipment on their new cars. What is the difference between dealers on the same make of car?

THE ANSWER IS IN THE COST OF DOING BUSINESS IN ONE AREA AS AGAINST ANOTHER

Marin County new car dealers have a much lower cost of doing business than the dealers "over the bridge." This is why your new car will cost less in Marin County. WHO DON'T YOU CHECK AND SEE!

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

No One Certain Way Exists To Eliminate Heart Attacks

Many people want to know how to avoid a heart attack. There is no simple answer, even though we are aware of the more well-known hazards, such as cholesterol, smoking, hypertension and stress. We suspect that all of these factors play a causative role, yet the available studies are not as conclusive as we would like.

Another generation of study on large numbers of people may be needed to put into proper perspective the hodgepodge of evidence. Most physicians base their heart care recommendations on what we know; they do not believe we can afford to wait for proof.

RESEARCH PROJECTS on avoiding heart attacks center around the hazards of too much cholesterol in the blood, hypertension and cigarette smoking. No one is willing to say that one hazard is more important than another, but we do know that when more than one of these conditions exist, the danger to the heart increases.

Most laymen consider physical and emotional stress, fatigue, frustration, depression and other adverse psychological situations to be the culprits in cardiac disasters. However, not enough time has been spent investigating these aspects of heart attacks.

Heart attacks and sudden death are increasing among the recently bereaved and the faithful employee who has been phased out of his job. Although the exact relationship between grief and heart attack may be difficult to prove, the onus is there.

OF ALL HAZARDS to the heart, cigarette smoking appears to be definitely related to coronary heart disease. People who smoke heavily are at great risk. The good results that follow abstinence are much easier to gauge than those resulting from a change in diet or mood.

A good amount of research implicates diets high in animal fats. Still other investigators consider hypertension the culprit. Yet, there are many exceptions, particularly since we have effective drugs for the treatment of high blood pressure and since eating habits can be changed, perhaps the person's interest in his own health provides the best guarantee against a heart attack.

WON'T EAT VEGETABLES

A reader writes: My 3-year-old son can't be forced, coaxed or bribed to eat his vegetables. Isn't his refusal costing him much needed vitamins and minerals?

REPLY

Not really. Other foods provide enough vitamins and minerals. If you are still concerned, give him a daily vitamin capsule. This is a phase he is going through and if I were you, I'd forget it.

BLACKOUTS

A reader writes: Could low blood pressure cause an occasional blackout?

REPLY

Yes. The presure may drop suddenly on sitting up or standing after lying down. On the other hand, causes other than hypertension varying from petit mal epilepsy to heart block are more likely to be responsible for blackouts.

EVENING SNACKS

E. N. writes: I munch, munch, munch all evening long. This snacking business is not a problem during the day. Can this nervous habit be broken?

REPLY

Yes, but it will take some activity that diverts your attention from the kitchen.

Dr. Van Dellen welcomes reader questions. While he cannot reply to them individually, he will answer those of general interest in his column. Write to Dr. Van Dellen c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

Armed Mine Is Found On Coast

BROOKINGS, Ore. (UPI) — A four-man Navy ordnance team yesterday detonated an armed Japanese World War II mine dredged up by a fisherman.

A Coast Guard spokesman said the subsurface mine contained 220 pounds of live explosives. It was the second Japanese mine found along the Oregon coast since 1943.

Miss Blair stars as a frightened 14-year-old girl sent to a juvenile detention home after running away from her parents in the movie "Born Innocent."

Hillsborough Man Pleads Guilty To Stock Charge

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A Hillsborough businessman pleaded guilty in federal court yesterday to two counts of an information in connection with a stock swindle.

Mateo Marco Roman, 49, entered his plea before U.S. District Judge William T. Sweigert for making false statements on a loan application and for mail fraud in claiming he had accidentally destroyed stock certificates in Walt Disney Corp. valued at $302,636.

Roman asked for replacement despite the face he knew the certificates had been pledged as collateral on a loan from Wells Fargo Bank in San Mateo.

Authorities said a total of about $2 million in certificates was involved.

Judge Sweigert set Oct. 17 for sentencing.

Roman was arrested by the FBI at his home across the street from the home of Randolph A. Hearst on March 1. His arrest caused a furor among newsmen stationed outside the Hearst home in connection with the Patricia Hearst kidnaping.

French Truckers Stage Slowdown

PARIS (UPI) — Truck drivers demonstrating for higher freight rates created massive traffic jams at Bordeaux, Lille, Nantes, Arras and the southern outskirts of Paris yesterday.

The drivers bunched their trucks into groups of 10 to 30 and maintained abnormally slow speeds on streets and highways.

Traffic backed up as far as 12 miles.

Ex-Colonel Plans Asia 'Pilgrimage'

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — A former Air Force colonel, who was shot down and held prisoner in North Vietnam for more than five years, announced plans yesterday to make a "pilgrimage" to Southeast Asia to draw attention to the plight of U.S. servicemen still listed as missing in action.

Laird O. Guttersen, who retired from the military Sept. 1 after 31 years' service, told newsmen he got the idea for the trip when he was a POW in Hanoi. "Naturally there was nothing I could do while I was still in uniform."

Guttersen said his two-week trip will include stops at Saigon, Bangkok and Laos if possible in his search to find out about the 900 to 1,300 men still missing. Gutterson said he will leave later this month.

"I have been told that the Defense Department is not too happy at the present time with my antics, but that the State Department is not unhappy," said the former 49-year-old Air Force flyer who was shot down near Hanoi Feb. 23, 1968.

Role Of Alioto In Ship Deal To Be Studied

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — City attorney Thomas O'Connor says he will investigate the role Mayor Joseph Alioto played in his relatives' purchase of Pacific Far East Line.

O'Connor said he would discuss the matter with Alioto today.

Over the weekend, the mayor revealed that he, his uncle and his cousin had backed the cargo fleet's acquisition by signing letters of credit for $2.3 million. The shipping line, now headed by Alioto's son, John, was purchased by nine relatives for $4.6 million.

"The guarantee may be the prelude to financial interest," O'Connor said Monday. "It's something I want to talk to the mayor about."

Alioto, who was attending a mayors' conference in Pittsburgh, Pa., was not available for comment.

Cross-Country Bike Trail Set

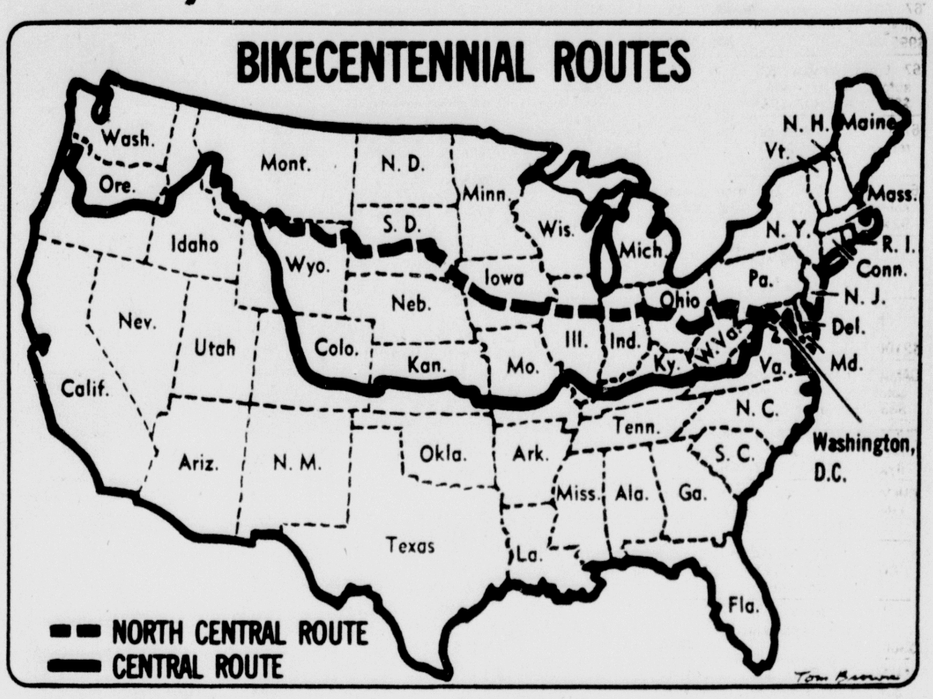
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Planning to see the United States for the bicentennial? Can't make up your mind whether to go by car, bus, plane, or train? Why not consider the bicycle?

To make things easy for you, the first cross-country bicycle routes will be opening in 1976 — from the Oregon coast to Washington, D.C. — complete with tour leaders, marked roadways (where states participate in the plan), and a guidebook that pinpoints overnight lodgings every 40 to 60 miles and lists repair shops.

"Bicycling is the best way to see the country," says one two-wheeler devotee. "You're going slow enough to feel, hear, smell, and taste your environment."

Cyclists have been doing without amenities like guidebooks and road markers since the first transcontinental trek took place in 1884 on a high-wheeler. Today an estimated 3,000 to 5,000 enthusiasts make the pilgrimage each summer. But to stay on the highays carries numerous risks, and the back ways are largely uncharted for adventuring cyclists. The 3,500-mile trans-America bike trail, which will be the world's longest when it is finished, will change all that.



The trail is the brainchild of four cyclists who have not only traveled coast to coast via non-polluting muscle power, but also took part in the National Geographic Society's "hemistour" from Alaska to the top of South America.

Two of them, Dan and Lyssie Burden, are nearing completion of a cross-country tour, researching and charting the trail with the help of another couple. Their Sept. 11 arrival in Washington will be marked by promotional ceremonies.

The trail will primarily use existing back roads and abandoned rights-of-way, most needing no new construction. But "in 10 per cent of the trail we would like to see some improvements, like paving the side of the highway for bicycles only," says Burden.

He is the director of "Bikecentennial '76" which is promoting the cross-country trail to celebrate 100 years of cycling in the U.S. as well as the nation's 200th birthday.

"What we're hoping for is a permanent trail that will be marked and left as a lasting gift to the nation — similar to what the Appalachian trail is to hiking," explains Burden.

Already the program has received official endorsement from the American Revolutionary Bicentennial Administration, critical acclaim from the U.S. Department of Transportation, and support from a number of state bicentennial groups.

When finally mapped, the route is expected to go through 12 states, passing through Hell's Canyon, Idaho, Yellowstone National Park, the Colorado Rockies, and the Kentucky blue grass country, as well as paralleling or crossing a number of historic trails: the Lewis and Clark, the Oregon, the Continental Divide, the Mormon, the Old West Cattle, and the Appalachian.

"The trail will skirt all of the major cities. One of the main purposes in developing the transcontinental route is to show how much there is to see in small, rural American communities. The land offers dramatic lessons of nature, history, and society up close," Burden says. Still, planners are trying to bring the routing close enough to cities to serve the major population centers.

This trail-blazing comes at a time when bicycling interest has reached an all-time high. Bicycles now outsell automobiles, wtih sales projected to top 16 million for 1974. The number of bicyclists in the U.S. has reached 100 million, according to the Bicycle Institute of America.

Beginning May 16, 1976, cross-country tours will be leaving the East and West coasts every day, Bikecentennial '76 organizers say. The trip will take approximately 80 days for a slow tour (traveling 40 to 50 miles per day), and half that time for a "fast" tour. Cyclists who do not have that much time may travel sections of the trail, or prefer to concentrate on the short "loop" trails that are being developed in key areas

Chavez, Meany Fear Aliens Hired To Break Farm Workers' Union

WASHINGTON (UPI) — AFL-CIO President George Meany and United Farm Workers leader Cesar Chavez complained yesterday that illegal aliens were being employed in California farm fields to break the back of the farm workers' union.

"If we could get the illegals out of the grape fields, and if we could get the illegals out of the lettuce fields, the growers would have to come and meet with us in 24 hours," Chavez said.

Chavez spoke at a luncheon in his honor. Meany, who attended the luncheon, reaffirmed AFL-CIO support for the United Farm Workers and the boycott of table grapes and head lettuce.

"Unless a great miracle happens, there will be people from Mexico to pick the crops during the California harvest season," Chavez said.

Meany said his organized labor unit will "press for new laws that will penalize the growers and other employers for hiring illegal aliens."

"We will not be satisfied until the United Farm Workers is recognized as the legitimate union of farm workers," Meany said. "This means new efforts that will gain public attention and public support for the product boycott for table grapes and head lettuce not picked by UFW members."

Meany said the issue in California was cheap labor.

"Cheap labor is the reason the growers forged an unholy alliance with the Teamsters to break the UFW," Meany said. "Cheap labor is the reason the growers now seek — through their influence in Washington — a return to the bracero program."

"Bracero" refers to a Mexican laborer admitted to the United States for a short period to perform seasonal, usually agricultural, work. The United States and Mexico in the past have worked out agreements under which Mexican workers are allowed to come to the United States for harvest periods.

Amtrak Asks $1.7 Billion 5-Year Improvement Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Amtrak has proposed a $1.7 billion five-year improvement plan that would boost average train speeds between some large cities to 90 or 110 miles per hour.

The plan includes purchase of 435 new, long-distance passenger cars —some double-decked —and 25 new diesel locomotives.

If Congress and the administration go along, service similar to but even faster than the present Washington-New York corridor would be extended to some other East Coast lines, to several lines radiating out of Chicago and to two short West Coast lines, San Diego-Los Angeles and Portland-Seattle.

Amtrak released some details of the plan, which went to Transportation Secretary Claude S. Brinegar and key members of Congress.

It was approved by Amtrak's new board of directors, appointed earlier this year at the direction of Congress.

The board also took steps to overcome mounting criticism of Amtrak's dismal mechanical record by announcing plans to negotiate the takeover of many railroad maintenance facilities and place employes directly under Amtrak control.

Currently, most Amtrak maintenance is done on a contract basis with the railroads which operate Amtrak trains.

The most ambitious portion of the plan, however, is the track upgrading program, totaling $1 billion for the five fiscal years 1975-1979.

Under the new upgrading plan, the average speed of Washington-Boston service, for example, would increase from 65 m.p.h. to 110 m.p.h.

The speed increase would be more dramatic in other lines, such as the rundown Penn Central line from Chicago to Cincinnati, which would be upgraded from an average 30 m.p.h. speed to 90 m.p.h.

Circus Man Is Killed By Auto

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Circus performer George Kristev, 32, of Bolivia, was struck and killed by a car today as he stood on a street corner.

Kristev's wife, Betty, 30, whom he married two months ago, was hospitalized in serious condition at Hennepin County General.

Kristev was a member of the Bulgarian Group of the Ringling Brothers Circus.

2 College Song Groups Will Meet

Indian Valley Colleges' two choral groups, the IVC Community Chorale and the Madrigal Singers, will have their first meetings of the college year next week, according to Conductor Joan Johnson.

The Community Chorale, a group open to all interested in singing, will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in room 7 of the colleges, 720 Ignacio Boulevard, Novato.

The members range from inexperienced singers to highly-trained, semi-professional singers and auditions aren't required, Miss Johnson said.

The Madrigal Singers, expanding this year into chamber chorale music, will enlarge enrollment to about 25 persons.

Auditions are required for the Madrigal group which will have its first rehearsal at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the colleges.

Anyone interested in further information or joining either group can telephone the college admissions office before the first sessions.

Toughness Puts Dancer On Their Toes

Choreographer Shapes 'Tape Suite' For Oct. 19

By PAUL CANE

Ruthanna Boris is tough. And she would be the first one to admit it.

Miss Boris, 56, is a prima ballerina-turned-choreographer for leading ballet companies in the United States. Now, assisted by a $1,510 grant from the National Endowment for the Arts, the Marin Civic Ballet has engaged her to work with 10 teen-age girls on a world-premier ballet, "Tape Suite," that she created.

The first performance of the ballet will be Oct. 19 at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

Ranging in age from 13 to 17, the 10 performers arrive at the Marin Civic Ballet studios like any other group of teen-age girls — laughing, joking, giggling, screaming. But once on the ballet floor, the laughs and the smiles are gone, and the work is first and foremost.

Because Ruthanna Boris demands it that way.

"I force my students to give up the layers of self-protective behavior, the defensive giggling that teen-agers use, that keeps them from really getting down to business. I force them to act like adults."

One portion of the ballet requires a skillful, smooth transition from a prone position to a graceful, standing arch by 16-year-old Robbin Sicard of Oakland, the only non-Marinite in the company. After several attempts at the close-order maneuver, Miss Boris was not satisfied.

"Robbin, just get up and turn around! It's not that difficult!"

"But they all crashed into me," Miss Sicard replied.

"So crash into a few people — they'll learn to give you room," Miss Boris said acidly.

And they tried again. This time, Robbin's hand accidentally struck the face of another dancer.

"Sorry about that," she apologized.

"I think Robbin needs traffic lessons," Miss Boris commented. "And there's no point in wasting all of our time until Robbin gets this right. Do it alone!"

And seldom is heard an encouraging word.

But performer as well as teacher realizes that Miss Boris demands perfection, not the impossible.

"She can be kind of crabby — but if something's too hard for us to do, she takes it out. On the other hand, if we're just messing up something easy, she works us and works us until we have it right," one girl commented.

"I'm sure they find it hard to work under me," Miss Boris said. "I do nothing but scream at them from the time they come in the door. But to develop a work of art, quality can't be an accident — you have to have discipline. And out of this they become better dancers."

The 22-minute ballet is a free-form production, with no plot or characters. "Each girl is herself," Miss Boris said. "The action can mean anything the watcher wants it to mean. Dancing doesn't have to be about something — dancing exists while it is being done."

The composer of the music, Hub Miller, is a music professor at the University of Washington. The music is of a modern, atonal mode — the melodies, particularly in the first portion of the piece, seem strange sounding. The music is all on tape (hence the title) and the sounds are created by plucking piano strings.

The dancers are fascinated by the music, however. "If it was on the radio, I'd turn to another station," one girl said. "But after getting used to it, it's very interesting."

Miss Boris fashioned the dancers' movements from the score, which was written less than one year ago. Both she and Miller returned yesterday to the University of Washington, where they are faculty members. The performers will continue rehearsal under the direction of Leona Norman, the director of the Marin ballet association.

Miss Boris began her professional dancing career at age 12 after study at the Metropolitan Opera Ballet School with Leon Fokine. She has performed with the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, the American Ballet and the Metropolitan Opera Ballet.

Throughout her career she has been as interested in choreographing ballet as in performing, and created several well-known works, including "Cirque de Deux," "Cakewalk," and "Kaleidoscope."

In 1960, a hip ailment requiring surgery ended Miss Boris' dancing career, and she turned to choreography full time. She has crutches to walk on, although when working on stage with her students, she moves around hesitantly without them.

But even this weakness does not alter her dominance over her students.

At one point in the rehearsal Saturday, Mrs. Norman, director of the association, looked at her concernedly and said, "Miss Boris, aren't you exhausted?"

The teacher looked over her panting charges and said, "No, but they are. I'm too young for them."

Novato Players Set Program Auditions

The Novato Community Players will hold auditions for "Ship of Follies," a variety show by Hal Campbell, starting at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Novato Community House.

The script, which revolves around life at sea on an ocean liner, will be the framework for specialty acts, singing and dancing.

The group is seeking singers, dancers, musicians and actors and expects to have a cast of about 25 persons.

Tryouts also will be held at 1 p.m. Sept. 15 at the Community House. The show will be performed Nov. 8, 9, 15 and 16.

Further information can be obtained from producer Paul Terry, 1473 Pastel Lane, or Dorie Mitchell, 71 Blanca Drive, Novato.

Kennedy Bike Case Dismissed

NEW YORK (AP) — Charges of robbery, grand larceny and possession of stolen property against a 20-year-old New York man accused of stealing a bike from John F. Kennedy Jr. have been dismissed.

For the fourth time, the son of the late President John F. Kennedy failed to show up in court to testify against Robert Lopez. Lopez was charged with stealing young Kennedy's bicycle in Central Park last May 14.

Judge Robert Haft yesterday dismissed the charges against Lopez over the protests of Manhattan Dist. Atty. Richard H. Kuh. Kuh complained that the "Kennedy-Onassis family has been thousands and thousands of miles away" while authorities tried to bring the case to trial.

Prince Learning To Fly Copter

LONDON (AP) — Prince Charles, already a qualified aircraft pilot, has begun a three and one-half month course to learn to fly a helicopter.

The 25-year-old heir to the British throne was up for a half-hour flight yesterday at the fleet air arm's headquarters in southwest England.

The helicopter course includes 38 hours of dual flying, 15 hours solo and 53 hours of ground training. The ground training includes a dunking in a simulated cockpit during which Prince Charles will have to free himself from a harness and escape through a window.

Ford Defeats Kennedy In Poll

PRINCETON, N.Y. (AP) — President Ford easily defeated Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass. in the first Gallup Poll trial run between the two men since Ford became President on Aug. 9.

In a survey of 1,590 registered voters conducted between Aug. 16 and 19, 57 per cent chose Ford; 33 per cent selected Kennedy, and 10 per cent were undecided.

In a trial heat held in May between the two men, Kennedy had a 50 to 39 per cent lead, with 11 per cent undecided.

According to Gallup, Kennedy is currently the top choice of Democrats for their party's nomination. The Massachusetts senator has not made known his intentions regarding the 1976 race.

Easing Of Credit Urged By Banker

ATLANTA (UPI) — David Rockefeller, chairman of The Chase Manhattan Bank, urged the Federal Reserve Board today to ease its curbs on credit in an effort to revitalize the depressed housing industry.

In his prepared speech to the National Correspondent Banking conference of the American Bankers Association, Rockefeller said that too much reliance had been placed on solving economic ills through tight controls on monetary policy.

As a result, the nation had been hit with "soaring interest rates with resulting severe disruptions in housing construction, public utilities and other industries," he said.

Sheriffs Chase Arty Monkeys

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI) — A trio of chimpanzees, armed with paint and paintbrushes, led sheriff's deputies on a three-hour chase during the weekend but were finally corralled before they could paint the town red — or any other color.

The chimps escaped from their cages in a Springfield home Saturday and managed to get their hands on the brushes and several cans of paint.

Sangamon County deputies, carrying brooms and other battle gear, were soon in hot pursuit.

One of the monkeys took a swipe at a broom and knocked it from a deputy's hand. That challenge to law and order was quickly met, however, and the chimps were captured and returned to their cages.

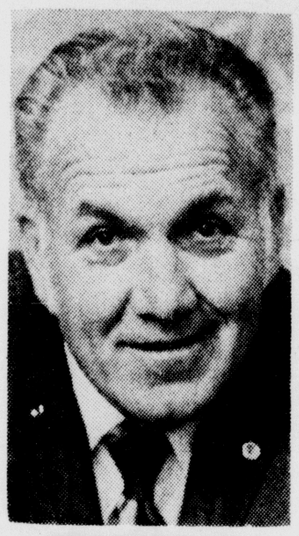
A Victory For The Girls

A lot of oldtime 49er players had a good time showing that football doesn't necessarily have to be a rough and tumble contact sport.

It happened at halftime of Sunday's football game between the present 49ers and L. A. Rams. And like the present day crop, the 49er alums lost the game, 6-0, to the lovely Niner Nuggets who got some help from Channel 5 sportscaster Wayne Walker, a former pro footballer with the Detroit Lions.



BRUNO BANDUCCI

It was part of the 49ers' Alumni Day activities honoring former players. Among them were three Marin Countians who once wore the 49er colors: Marin Catholic football coach Bruno Banducci (1946-54), Redwood athletic director Al Endriss (1952) and the head man at Geary Ford in S.F., Ed Balatti (1946-47), of Kentfield.

A victory for women's lib, that's what it was. The girls scored a touchdown on the first play of the game. Balatti tried to rally the team back when he stole the ball from the gals and hiked it to Y. A. Tittle. Proving he still has a good right arm, Y. A. threw a long pass but none of his teammates had that old speed left and the pass went incomplete.

Refereeing the game was Balatti's son, John, a tackle for Redwood High School. He seemed to be looking the other way when his dad swiped the ball from the Nuggets.

ONE LAST ITEM before we leave Candlestick. When public address announcer Dave Scofield of Larkspur declared over the loudspeakers that Evel Knievel had failed to cross the Snake River Canyon but had landed safely by parachute, there were quite a few boos echoing around the stands. There is nothing like a blood and guts football fan.

RON CERRUDO of Napa, whose parents Mr. and Mrs. John Cerrudo live in San Rafael and play golf at Peacock Gap, has been doing very little golf playing himself. Ron has been off the pro golf tour the past five weeks because of reoccurring back pains. He's been troubled off and on by a sore back since his operation three years ago.

This time, he injured his back swinging a golf bag over his shoulder. His golf playing has been confined to chipping and putting practically out his back door at the Silverado Country Club course. He's getting back to business this week. He's entered in the World Open starting Thursday in Pinehurst, N. C. And, of course, Cerrudo will be in the starting field at the Kaiser International on his home Silverado course Sept. 26-29.

I RECEIVED A LETTER the other day asking, among other things, if Al Michaels, play-by-play announcer for the Giants, was going to return to the team next year. From what I have been told, Michaels has a three-year contract with Golden West Network and he likes it just fine in San Francisco, thank you. There was a news item the other day that Michaels had signed with NBC as a commentator for this season's National Football League games, but that will be in addition to, not instead of, his baseball job.

RODNEY WILLIAMS, senior at Tamalpais High, will be included in the eighth annual edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students, 1973-74. It shows that Rodney doesn't spend all his time on the football and track fields, two sports at which he excels.

Brash Connors And Old Lady King Win

Rosewall, Goolagong Are Beaten

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) — The fresh kid owns his side of the block, but The Old Lady still runs her side of the tennis street.

That's the way the U.S. Open tennis championships ended yesterday, with Jimmy Connors picking on a poor old man of 39, his own 22-year-old legs and brutal power kicking Ken Rosewall off his turf in a 6-1, 6- 0, 6-1 rout, and Billie Jean King, at age 30, barely maintaining her supremacy over Evonne Goolagong, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5.

What did these Australians think they were doing, trying to walk away from Forest Hills with our titles? Didn't they realize Billie Jean never quits, and that Jimmy needs the dough so he and Chris Evert can begin married life in an ivy-coated castle instead of a bungalow?

For Jimmy, disposing of two time champion Rosewall was scarcely difficult. Connors opened at full force, racing through the first four games before a bewildered Rosewall won a game. Casting an occasional grin at Chris where she was seated in a marquee box with her mother-in-law-tobe, Jimmy wiped Ken out, 6-1 in the first set and at love in the second, allowing Rosewall less leeway than he had in his 6-1, 6-1, 6-4 victory over Ken in the Wimbledon final.

(UPI Telephoto)

In the first two sets, Rosewall gained only 25 points, and when Connors finished his mugging, Rosewall had won only 40 points in the entire match.

Not since the U.S. championships began back in 1881 had a finalist been destroyed so badly. But it was no discredit to Rosewall, who won here in 1954, and again 16 years later, in 1970.

Connors had been denied his shot at the Grand Slam when the French barred him from their championships. But his victory here and at Wimbledon, and his win in the Australian final over Phil Dent, plus his victory in the U.S. Clay Court final over Bjorn Borg, stamp him as the undisputed ruler of world tennis.

As for "The Old Lady," she proved once again that "guts is what counts. Don't ask me how I won," Billie said after her brilliant battle with Miss Goolagong. "I was in a daze in that final set. Evonne's forehand was excellent, her backhand phenomenal. She kept me off balance all the time."

But "all the time" didn't include Evonne's one fatal lapse.

The lovely Aussie's trainer-manager, Vic Edwards summed it up.

"You saw it. I saw it. Everyone saw it," Vic said, resting against a fence and waiting for his beaten protege to join him.

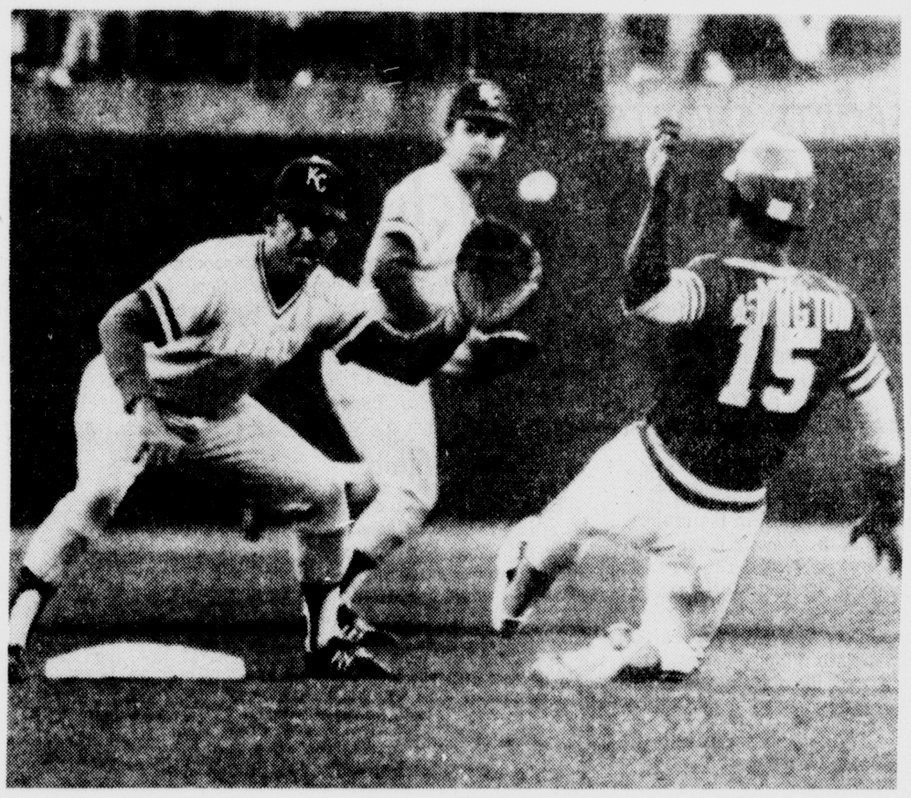
Evonne had been right with Billie all the way, but in the second set, in the fourth game, Evonne tried to change the break-neck pace on her own service — and Mrs. King broke her at love, then went on to square the match.

When the Old Lady is even with you, there's no way she's going to let you get away. When it came down to the wire, Billie had it. She had been serving for the match when Evonne, in a glorious game which featured a long rally of baseline lobs, net cutoffs, pulled even at 5-all. The Old Lady wasn't to be denied. She broke back, giving Evonne only one point, although lucky in getting to 15-40 when, in self-defense, she got her racquet in the way, and the ball dropped dead across the net.

Serving for the match the second time, Billie had no more time for nonsense, winning set and match at love.

Stay off the streets when Billie Jean and Jimmy are on duty.

46,780 Watch A's Great Pitching Show



SKILL ON BASES — Claudell Washington of the A's appeared to be an easy out as he tried to steal second base against Kansas City in the first game of last night's doubleheader in Oakland. But the ball sailed past Cookie Rojas, and Washington advanced to third. Meanwhile a more renowned base runner was having his troubles in St. Louis. See picture and story, page 30.

Hunter, Blue Blank Kansas City

By JOE SARGIS

OAKLAND (UPI) — When you have pitchers such as Jim Hunter and Vida Blue working at their best, there really is nothing for the opposition to do but go home and think about the next game.

Last night, before a sellout paid crowd of 46,780, the two young pros gave the Kansas City Royals a pitching show they are liable never to forget, hurling back-to-back shutouts in a 3-0 and 7-0 Oakland A's doubleheader sweep.

Blue, snapping a personal five-game losing streak, pitched a two hitter and Hunter, winning his sixth in a row and 23rd of the season, followed with a four-hitter.

Meanwhile, their teammates took advantage of "mistake" pitches by Steve Busby in the opener and Paul Splittorff in the nightcap. In the opener, Gene Tenace drove in two runs with his 24th homer and Claudell Washington drove in one with a triple to give Blue all the help he needed in picking up his 15th victory. In the second game, Joe Rudi, with his 18th homer, and Sal Bando, with his 20th and two singles, had three RBIs each to make it a breeze for Hunter.

"In all my years in baseball," said A's Manager Alvin Dark, "I can't remember two better pitched games than these two at this stage of the season with a club fighting for a division title. They were just great. After that there really isn't much more you can say."

The sweep, coupled with Texas' split with California, increased the A's' lead in the American League West to 6 ½ games and reduced Oakland's division title-clinching magic number to 13.

The A's leave on an 11-game road trip today and Dark said, "if they win eight of the 11 games that should do it."

Hunter, now the top winner in the majors with 23 victories, wasn't quite as sharp as Blue but he got the job done in workman-like fashion. With anywhere from three to five starts remaining, he seems a cinch for 25 victories and the best credentials in the AL for the Cy Young Award. He's been a 20-game plus winner in each of the last four seasons but never has won the award.

Dark, getting accustomed to Hunter's efficiency, spent most of the time praising Blue.

"He was throwing as hard in the ninth as he was in the first," he said. "I think he was reacting to the big crowd. He was all keyed up and he pitched as if every pitch meant something to him."

The A's' hitters don't have awesome batting averages but they get hits when they count. After last night's work, Bando leads the club with 97 runs batted in, Rudi has 89, Reggie Jackson 88 and Tenace 65. The four give the A's the kind of solid punch it takes to win pennants.

See A's box score on inside page.

Bowlers' Voting Set On Saturday

Balloting to choose Marin County delegates to the Women's International Bowling Congress 1975 state and national conventions will be held Saturday at 1 p.m. at Nave Lanes in Ignacio.

The national convention is set for next April in Indianapolis, followed by the California convention in June.

All card-carrying members of the WIBC are eligible to vote.

Montefusco Wants To Be The Best

HOUSTON (UPI) — Right-hander John Montefusco, the "Count of Montefusco" to those he says should know him by now, continues to build quite a high horse late this season.

"I want to be the best pitcher in the major leagues next year," he says matter-of-factly.

And judging by his upstart performances since the San Francisco Giants called him to the big leagues for the first time less than two weeks ago, you have to listen to the guy.

"I don't set my goals low. Next year, I want to be a 20-game winner," he said.

With that, he launched into the reasons for allowing the Houston Astros 11 hits yet winning his second decision without a loss 8-6 Monday. Pure skill, he said.

It helped that his teammates, tied with Houston 3-3 through seven innings, broke loose off loser Larry Dierker (9-9) for five more runs.

The "Count" singled with one out to lead off the Giants' eighth and scored the go-ahead run on Tito Fuentes' single after Garry Maddox reached base on a field's choice.

With runners on third and second, Dierker intentionally walked Bobby Bonds setting up last year's National League Rookie of the Year as the game's hero — next to the "Count," you understand.

Matthews, who doubled home the Giants' first run in the first, slammed another double clearing the bases in the eighth. Dave Kingman added a triple driving in Matthews with the final Giant tally.

Although allowing the Astros three runs in the ninth and exiting the game with one out to go, Montefusco, a 6-foot-1, 180-pounder from Long Branch, N.J., said such minor hindrances won't stop his rise.

So far his vault toward excellence has been meteoric. In his second pro season, Montefusco jumped from class AA Amarillo to Phoenix this July. There he fired seven complete games and earned a 7-3 record and a ticket to San Francisco.

Manager Wes Westrum threw him into the Los Angeles game Sept. 3 with the bases loaded and none out in the first inning. Unruffled, the "Count" fired a six-hitter over the full nine innings and won 9-5.

Veteran Simpson Is Cut By Colts

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Baltimore Colts cut two veterans and four rookies from their active roster today to move within three players of the 47-man limit that all National Football League teams must meet by 4 p.m. EDT.

Colt spokesman Barry Jones said the remaining three cuts would be made in time to meet the league deadline, which has been revised this year because of the players' strike.

The victims of the latest cuts were cornerback Mike Simpson, a five year veteran; quarterback Tom Pierantozzi, a two-year veteran; rookie wide receiver Pat Kelly; rookie defensive tackle Glenn Ellis; rookie tight end Carl Brown; and rookie linebacker Gary Hager.

100 Cyclists Set For 'Tour Of Marin'

A field of some 100 riders from throughout northern California is expected to take part in the first Tour of Marin bicycle race Saturday and Sunday.

The tour, a national points race for the Amateur Bicycle League of America, is co-sponsored by the Marin Cyclists and the Velo Club Tamalpais. It will be the largest event of its kind ever held in Marin.

Among the entrants will be two top riders from Marin, Marc Horwitz of Mill Valley and Gary Fisher of San Anselmo.

The tour will be divided into four stages; a road race of seven laps around the Tiburon Peninsula starting at 7 a.m. Saturday; a five-mile time trial that afternoon on North Novato Blvd. to San Marin High School, beginning at 3:30; an 85-mile road race through Northern Marin beginning in Fairfax at 8 a.m. Sunday; and a 25-mile "criterium" hp race that afternoon in Fairfax, starting at 2:45.

Sunday's road race will take riders through San Geronimo, Nicasio, Tomales and Marshall before returning to Fairfax. The criterium, for senior men, will be preceded by lap races of various distances for junior and intermediate men, women, veterans (over 40) and tandems.

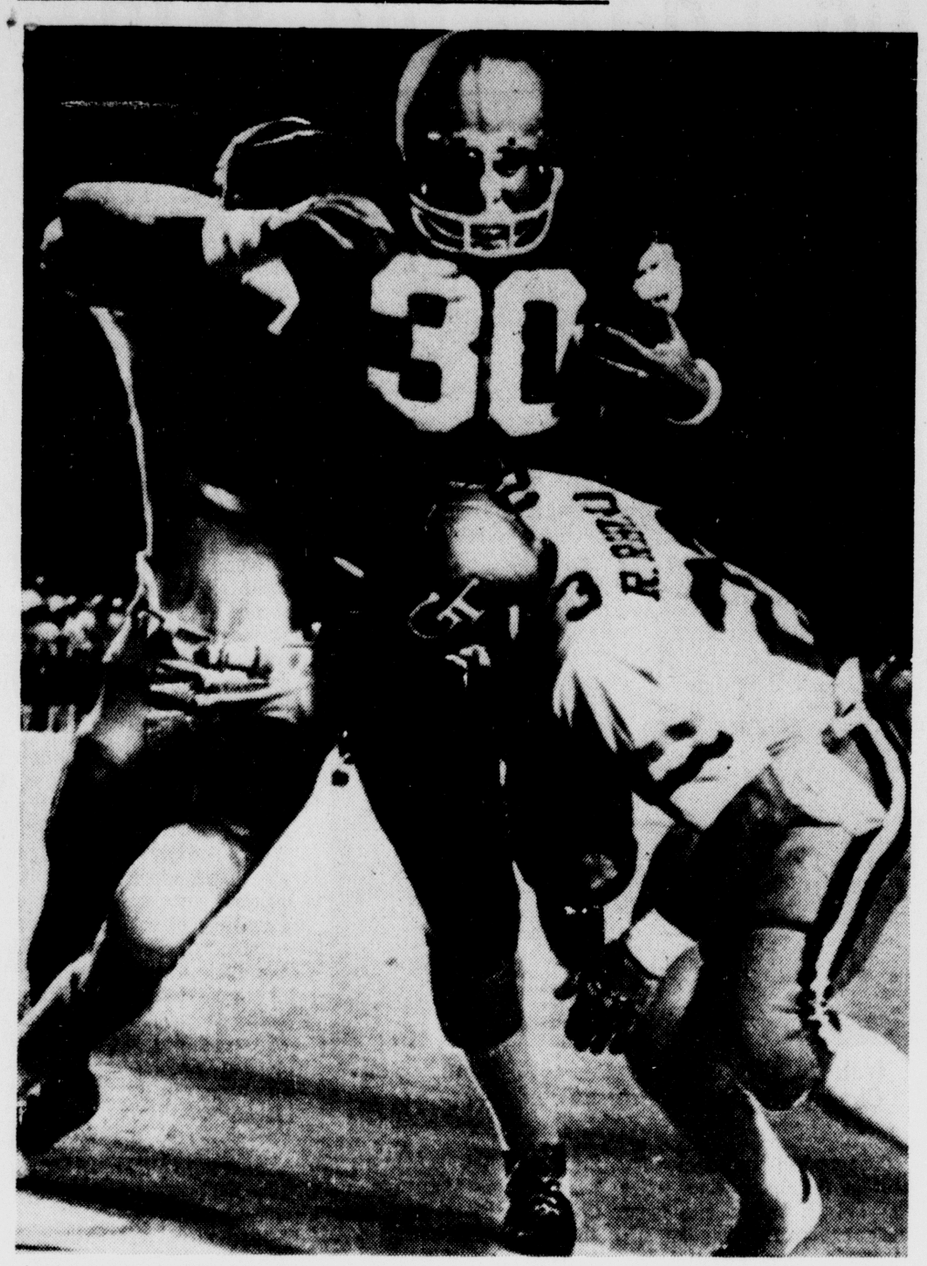
Awards will follow the final race, and will be given for both individual and team scoring.

Cashman Signs Multi-Year Pact With Boston

BOSTON (UPI) — Wayne Cashman, fourth-highest scorer in the National Hockey League last season, has signed a "multi-year extension" of his current contract with the Boston Bruins.

Bruins Managing Director Harry Sinden announced the signing yesterday. He said it "augers well for future Bruins teams. Wayne is an integral part of the club and I'm very pleased that we were able to come to terms with training camp less than a week away."

Cashman, who teams with Phil Esposito and Ken Hodge on the NHL's highest scoring line, had 30 goals and 59 assists last season.



BULLOCK THE BULL — Notre Dame fullback Wayne Bullock last night was sandwiched by Georgia Tech defenders Eddie Porter and Randy Rhino (front). Though Bullock was contained on this play in Atlanta, he scored two touchdowns while grinding out 67 yards in 18 carries to help the Irish defeat Georgia Tech, 31-7.

More Pressure In Major Leagues

Theft Try Failure For Brock

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Lou Brock may be a terror on the basepaths but the heart of the St. Louis lineup was what struck fear in the heart of Jim Lonborg.

Brock failed in his bid to gain headway on Maury Wills' major league record for stolen bases Monday night as Lonborg hurled a two-hitter and Mike Anderson and rookie Jerry Martin knocked in runs to lead the Philadelphia Phillies to a 2-0 triumph over the Cardinals.

Brock, with 103 stolen bases, needed one more to tie Wills' record but was thwarted when he stumbled on a steal attempt in the sixth.

Lonborg wasn't worried about Brock as much as he was of the heart of the Cardinal lineup—Reggie Smith, Ted Simmons and Bake McBride.

"I wasn't worried about so much about Brock but more about Smith, Simmons and McBride. Only McBride got a hit. The others didn't and I stayed out of trouble," he said.

In other games, Chicago beat Pittsburgh, 9-4, Los Angeles trounced Atlanta 8-1, New York stopped Montreal 7-1, and Cincinnati topped San Diego 8-3.

Cubs 9, Pirates 4

The Pirates had a six-game winning streak snapped as the Cubs rattled five pitchers for 14 hits. Home runs by Jose Cardenal and Andy Thornton helped power the Cubs' victory which sent the Pirates to only their third defeat in the last 17 games.

Reds 8, Padres 3

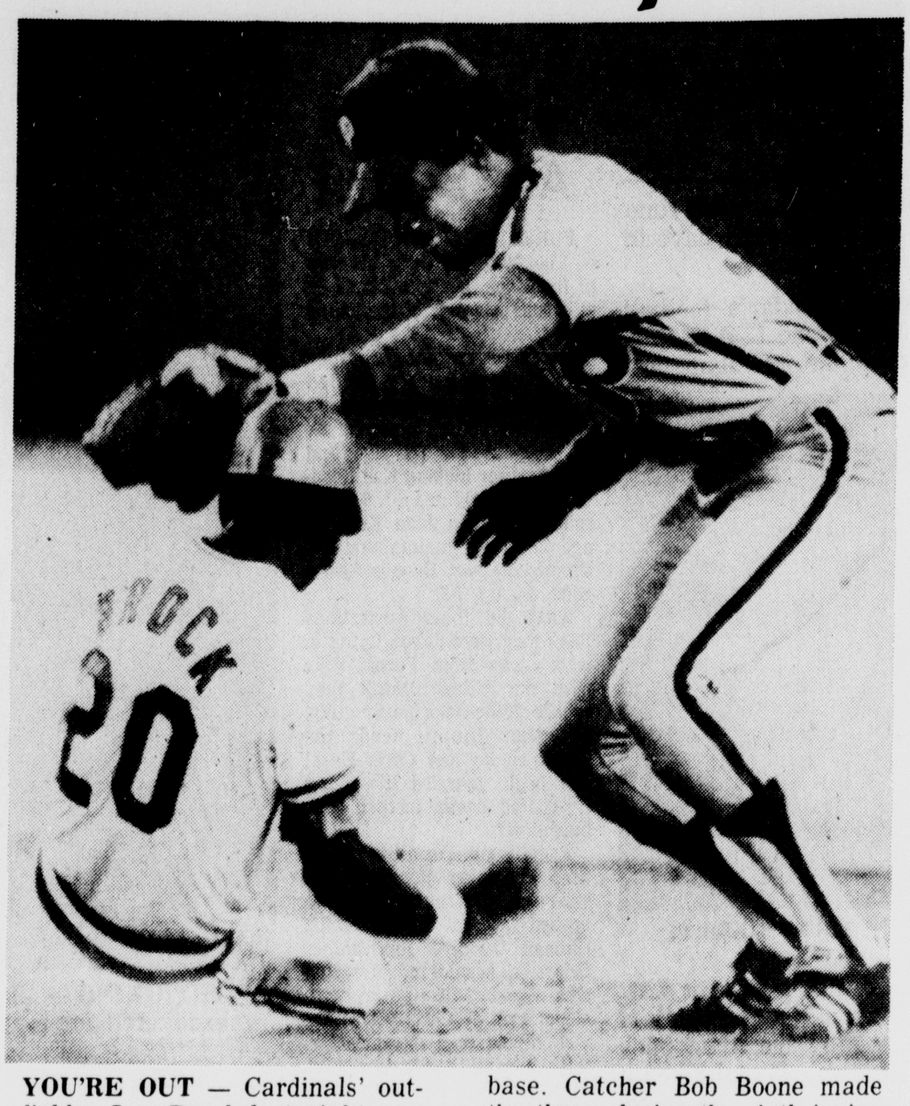
The Reds didn't lose ground in their pennant drive to the Dodgers as they blasted their way over the Padres. Dave Concepcion hit a two-run homer and Tony Perez chipped in with a solo shot to lead the Cincinnati attack.

Mets 7, Expos 1

Dave Schneck's bases-loaded single triggered a four-run fifth inning rally that propelled the Mets over the Expos. Ray Sadecki won his fourth straight game as he recorded his eighth win in 15 decisions.

Dodgers 8, Braves 1

The Dodgers maintained their 3 ½-game lead over the second place Reds in the West by downing the Braves as Ron Cey stroked a three-run homer and Steve Garvey added a two-run shot to pace the win. Geoff Zahn, in his first major league start, went the distance and checked the Braves on four hits.



YOU'RE OUT — Cardinals' outfielder Lou Brock last night was tagged out by Philadelphia Phillies' second baseman Dave Cash while attempting to steal his 104th base. Catcher Bob Boone made the throw during the sixth inning at St. Louis to prevent Brock from tying Maury Wills' theft mark established in 1962.

Red Sox Wilting To Yanks

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

The pressure was on the New York Yankees but it was the Boston Red Sox who couldn't handle it.

The Yankees, who were beginning to wonder if they would ever win another game at Fenway Park, were gifted by three errors and finally ended an 11-game losing streak at Boston last night when they defeated the Red Sox 6-3 to regain sole possession of first place in the American League East.

A standing room only crowd of 34,981—second largest of the year at Fenway Park—turned out in anticipation of a classic contest reminiscent of bygone days, but it took only one batter before the pressure got to the young Red Sox and led to their downfall.

Roy White hit a routine grounder to shortstop Mario Guerrero and was safe when he booted the ball. White then stole second and continued to third when catcher Bob Montgomery's throw went into centerfield as no one covered second. Moments later White scored the first run of the game on Elliott Maddox' single.

That run put the Yankees ahead for good but there was another play in the fourth inning which might have changed the course of the game had the Red Sox been able to pull it off successfully.

The Yankees were leading 2-1 when Graig Nettles led off the fourth with a double. Chris Chambliss, who had homered in the second, followed with a single but rightfielder Dwight Evans' throw to the plate appeared to have Nettles beaten. In the collision at home, however, Montgomery dropped the ball and Nettles was safe. No error was given on the play but those are the kind of plays a team must make if it is to win a championship.

In other AL action, Baltimore nipped Milwaukee 6-5 in 11 innings, Cleveland whipped Detroit 7-1, Minnesota beat Chicago 3-1, California topped Texas 4-1 then lost 5-3 and Oakland swept Kansas City 3-0 and 7-0.

Orioles 6, Brewers 5

Indians 7, Tigers 1

Dick Bosman tossed a three-hitter and Oscar Gamble hit a two-run homer to spark the Indians over the Tigers.

Twins 3, White Sox 1

Angels 4-3, Rangers 1-5

Chuck Dobson recorded his first win in three years with a seven-hitter in the opener as the Angels beat the Rangers. Bruce Bochte singled home a pair of runs to highlight the Angels' attack. Rookie Roy Howell's first major league homer triggered a three-run fourth inning that enabled the Rangers to gain a split.

Not Much Of Homecoming For Georgia Tech's Coach

The former UCLA coach made his debut as head coach at his alma mater, Georgia Tech, last night and stalked gloomily along the sidelines while muscular Notre Dame manhandled his team 31-7.

To add insult to injury, the mismatch was nationally televised.

"They're too good for us," said Rodgers. "I didn't schedule them, I never would have."

You wouldn't have known that Georgia Tech was a lopsided underdog by its play through the first half of the first period.

The Yellow Jackets marched 68 yards to a touchdown after the opening kickoff and forced the Irish to punt the first time they had the ball.

But after Tech lost the ball on a fumble at its 12-yard line nine minutes into the game, the Irish came to life with a vengeance.

The first of two one-yard touchdown plunges by bullish fullback Wayne Bullock made it 7-7 at 10:21; a 22-yard field goal by Dave Reeves eight seconds into the second period made it 10-7; and Tom Clements' seven-yard touchdown pass to Pete Demmerle with 55 seconds left in the half had Notre Dame off and running.

Georgia Tech's last sign of an offense came after the Reeves' field goal when the Yellow Jackets drove 61 yards, 43 of those on a scamper by quarterback Danny Myers, to the Irish one.

But Notre Dame held and Georgia Tech was to gain a grand total of only 25 yards the final two-thirds of the football game.

The Irish made good use of Clements' passing in the first half — he hit 8-of-10 for 125 yards, but rolled up 200 yards on the ground after the half. Clements wound up with 217 yards total offense, getting 170 on 10-for-14 passing and 47 more running.

"I'm immensely pleased with our performance after a shocking start," said Note Dame Coach Ara Parseghian. "The game was a test for us to see how much damage was done through all our (personnel) losses. I think the loss of our speed is significant."

Parseghian would have preferred that Georgia Tech had passed more because a week from Saturday the Irish visit Northwestern, whose quarterback, Mitch Anderson, has led the Big Ten in passing the past two seasons.

Tech threw only five passes, completing three for 31 yards.

With South Carolina coming to town Saturday night, Rodgers would just as soon forget about Notre Dame. Who can blame him?

Ex-Giants' Coach Does Not Plan To Retire

Combined AP & UPI

ANAHEIM — Salty Parker, a major league coach for 16 years, says he doesn't plan to retire even though the California Angels have said they don't plan to rehire him for 1975.

"I still want to work," said Parker, 61.

An infielder, Parker broke into organized baseball in 1930, yet never played in the majors. He was the playing manager of Shreveport of the Texas League, where he also pitched three games.

Parker coached with the San Francisco giants, 1958-61, and went to the Cleveland Indians in 1962.

Big Battle Looms For Warrior Guards

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors signed two guards aboard to set up a wild fight for the backcourt spots on this year's squad.

They signed rookie Willie Biles from Tulsa, their fourth round pick, and Steve Bracey, the two-year guard bought from Atlanta last week. They now will have four veterans and four rookies vying for guard spots when camp opens Thursday.

The signing of Biles also gave the Warriors their first four National Basektball Association draft picks under contract. They have also signed first pick Keith Wilkes, second pick Phil Smith and third choice Frank Kendricks.

Meanwhile, center Nate Thurmond is still mulling over his trade to Chicago for Clifford Ray, a draft pick and cash.

"I've read over the years that I was as much a Bay Area landmark as the Golden Gate Bridge," he said, "but I'm going and that bridge isn't going anywhere."

But Thurmond, 33, said he feels he might be able to bring championship to Chicago and promised to go all out in his efforts to do so.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Duck Season Openers Near

The duck seasons are getting closer. In the Colorado River zone, the season runs Sept. 28 through Oct. 25 for the first half. The Northeast season opens Oct. 12. The central and southern parts of the state commence Oct. 19.

Of particular concern to you might be the Oct. 12 opener at Tule Lake, Lower Klamath and the Modoc Refuge. All the permits (required this year) to hunt the first weekend of the 1974-75 waterfowl season on the above three national refuges have been spoken for, according to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Those permits required for the second weekend are reportedly going fast.

No permits will be required for the weekday hunting, nor for weekends after the second weekend. With a top season for ducks predicted and with possession limits of 14 birds (provided at least four are sprig) filing your reservations for the valley refuges will be most important. Applications for those refuges to be opened for inaugural day should be in the license agents sporting goods stores by next week.

THE DEPARTMENT of Fish and Game warned hunters to resist any temptation of submitting more than one application for any of the areas during either half of the season.

Any person who violates this rule during the uncoming season will lose the hunting privilege on state waterfowl areas for the 1975-76 season. In prior years, violators were only barred from the areas for the remainder of the seaon during which the violation occurred. Violators are also subject to prosecution.

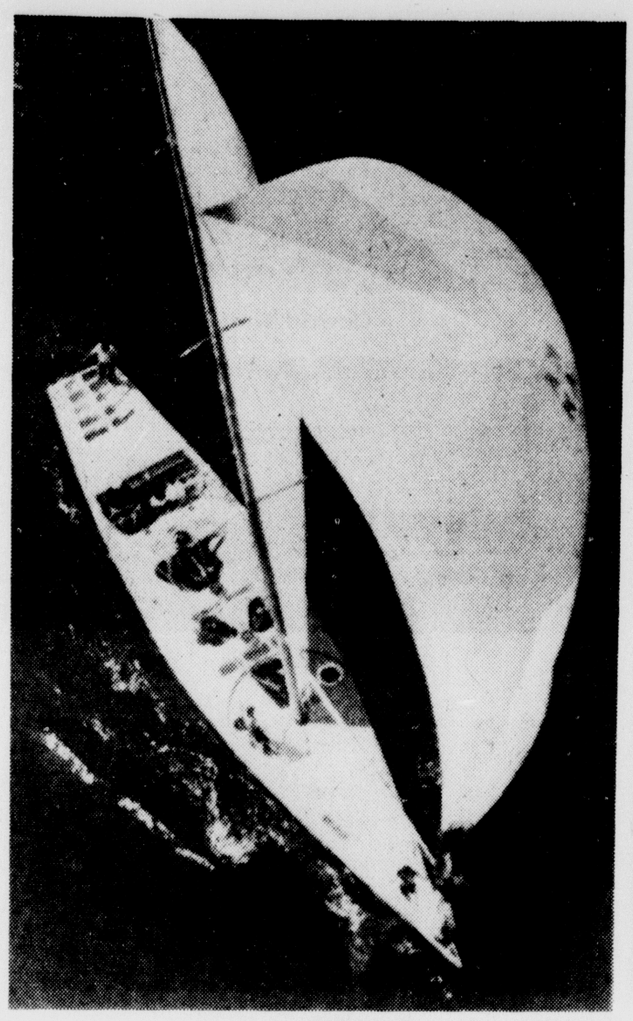
The stricter penalty was adopted by the commission to stem the growing number of "cheaters" who attempt to improve their chances for a reservation by submitting many applications. The commission is hopeful that the prospect of a one-year suspension will deter the practice, keeping the drawings fair for all applicants.

During the season, the department is able to make only spot checks for violations. Previously, this meant many violations went undetected. This year, a complete check will be made after the season closes. Consequently, just about the time a lot of "cheaters" are congratulating themselves on having gotten away with it again, they will suddenly be faced with the prospect of prosecution plus no place to hunt waterfowl next year.

I RECEIVED a brochure from the Novato Trap Club, located just north of the Novato airport. It reads: " With the bird hunting seasons coming up, our club offers the hunter a good place to get his eye sharpened up before he gets out into the field. The Novato Trap Club is a membership club and any hunter who would like to have a place to shoot during the offseason is welcome to join the club, but member or not, all are invitied to come out and join the fun." The club is open from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Sundays and on Thursday nights from 6:30 to 10. Assistance will be furnished to new shooters if requested.

Marin Rod and Gun Club member George Finney and two friends tried fishing at the California City areas. They used Andy Reeker and abalone spoons, catching three salmon, 46, 25 and eight pounds. They had a field day actually, using the same gear, they also landed eight stripers the largest being an 18-pounder.

George talked a little about hunting in the Lake County area around the Mendocino National Forest area. His gang took one buck and missed one on an outing. But they had to kill eight rattlesnakes. Last year, they had to do the same thing with 15. (George, you can have that spot all to yourself).



AMERICA'S CUP COMPETITORS

The Australian challenger Southern Cross (left) and the American defender Courageous yesterday concluded practice sessions at Newport, R.I. for the start today of the best-of-seven America's Cup series. Jim Hardy will skipper the Australians' 12-meter entry and Ted Hood the American.

49ers Leave For New Orleans

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers, shy four waived players and their starting quarterback, have left for their National Football League season opener against the Saints in New Orleans.

However, the 49ers' team surgeon said injured quarterback Steve Spurrier, who underwent surgery for a separated right shoulder yesterday, may arrive for the opening kickoff.

"I'm going to make every effort to get him out in time for the trip to New Orleans," said Dr. Lloyd Milburn. "It will be good for Steve and he might be able to give the team some help from a spotter's position."

Spurrier was injured in the first quarter of Sunday's 17-7 loss to the Los Angeles Rams. Milburn is optimistic that Spurrier will play again this season.

"We'll make every effort to have him rehabilitated within two months," he said.

Meanwhile, the team waived veteran linebacker Charley Hunt and three rookies yesterday.

The 49ers also obtained two offensive veterans for undisclosed draft choices. Kansas City sent wide receiver Robert West, while Buffalo swapped tackle Bob Penchion.

West is 6-foot-4 and 218 pounds. He is a San Diego State product and a three-year NFL veteran. West played in eight games last season, catching four passes for 65 yards.

He filled in for wide receiver Elmo Wright in 1972, hauling in nine passes for 165 yards and two touchdowns.

Penchion, a 6-foot-6, 250-pounder from Alcorn A & M, played in five games last year.

Ali Says He May Win In First Round

PARIS (UPI) — Muhammad Ali buzzed through Paris today on his way to Africa, predicting he may snatch a first round victory in his Sept. 25 world championship fight with George Foreman.

"Tell the French people not to miss this chance," Ali told reporters at Orly Airport. "Go to the cinema early because I might knock him out in the first round. It might be like my second fight against Sonny Liston.

Talking like the Cassius Clay of the 1960s, Ali recited poems for reporters before leaving the United States. In Paris he had no poems, but he said the fight "is the greatest event in the history of the world."

"So I have trained very seriously," he said.

Ali and his party of 35 arrived this morning and were leaving later today for Kinshasha, Zaire, where the fight is being staged.

"Foreman is the champion and the favorite, but I will surprise the world and beat him easily, "Ali said.

"I have three big fighters with me. Every one is bigger than Foreman. I will beat three men every day, then it will be easy to beat Foreman," Ali said in slow, simple English for the benefit of the French-speaking reporters.

But he said most of his training for the next two weeks will be running and road work.

Speaking of the African site for the fight, Ali said "I'm fighting in my homeland. After 400 years we are returning home."

'Turk' Time At Training Camps

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

"The Turk" made his big appearance yesterday at National Football League training camps across the country.

Oh, he's called other names as well, not all of them printable, but whatever terminology is used, he is relentless. No door can impede his charge or keep him from grabbing marginal players and turning their dreams into memories.

The Turk is cutdown day. NFL rosters, bloated to 70 and 80 players until now by the players association strike, had to be at 47 by 4 p.m. today.

Some of the departures hardly would raise eyebrows in surprise. Names like Lincoln Minor, Herschel Strickland and Tommy Thibodeaux appeared on waiver lists at NFL headquarters to be processed into further obscurity.

Others were less expected victims of The Turk's assault. The New York Giants waived defensive back Willie Williams, a 10-year veteran who once was a mainstay in their secondary. The Baltimore Colts discarded Sam Havrilak, a six-year veteran, and Joe Schmiesing — a seven-year veteran defensive tackle who started for last year's team.

And the invasion on many fronts was not yet over by the early morning hours. In George Allen's Washington Redskin camp, 20 players tossed and turned awaiting The Turk's return. The Kansas City Chiefs waived 14 players yesterday but had 16 to go as the sun rose.

Coach Dan Devine faced another 15 cuts to bring the Green Bay Packer roster to the limit.

Maybe offensive tackle Glen Ray Hines saw The Turk coming to the Pittsburgh Steelers training site at Carlisle, Pa. The nine-year veteran, who started all of Pittsburgh's games last season, announced his retirement early in the afternoon.

Steelers defensive back John Dockery wasn't as fortunate. It wasn't until a shadowy finger touched his shoulder and pointed toward the exit that Dockery got the message.

The devastation crossed the continent, leaving emptiness in its wake at New Orleans, where seven players became former Saints, moving to Dallas, where seven more bags were packed, and reached San Francisco, where the unlucky number came up four in the 49ers camp.

For some, there is salvation. Offensive tackle Chris Morris, recently released by the Cleveland Browns, is expected to join the World Football league Memphis Southmen this week.

AT TAMALPAIS

Good Attitudes Vs. Problem Of Depth

(Sixth in a series of profiles on 1974 Marin County high school football teams).

Tamalpais High School's fortunes in the Marin County Athletic League this season will depend on how much an abundance of attitude can overcome a lack of depth.

"A proper attitude and 100 per cent effort for personal satisfaction" is Jess Racines' motto in his second season as head coach at Tam. In 1973 the Indians finished next to last in the MCAL with a 3-6-1 overall record.

"We feel that we were attempting to change attitude last year, and it was our greatest asset toward the end of the season," says Racines. Tam tied Terra Linda 0-0 and beat San Rafael, 7-6 in the final games.

Racines has seven returning players around which to build. Six were starters: center Tom Hunt, tackle Dan Morgan, tight end Mike Lamb, tailback Kevin Murphy and two linebacker brothers, Bob and Ken Praszker. The other letterman, John Dittle, will be this year's fullback.

Morgan, Lamb and Murphy each weigh about 210, but from there size falls off sharply, as does depth. "If any one thing may hurt us, it's our depth," says Racines.

Four players off last year's junior varsity have already locked up starting positions in the Tam lineup. Dan Lucia will be at quarterback, Norm Yost at tackle, David Earl at guard and Arthur MacIntosh at wide receiver.

Raiders Must Cut 17 From Squad Today

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Raiders had to cut 17 players by today in preparation for their National Football League opener against Buffalo Monday night.

Like every other NFL team, Oakland had to be down to 47 players by 1 p.m. The Raiders listed 64 players on their roster for last Saturday's game against New York. Oakland has a long-standing policy of not announcing its player cuts.

With so many personnel changes pending, coach John Madden says he hasn't decided on a starting lineup against Buffalo.

"The first and most important thing is to get down to 47," he said. "The makeup of the squad and other things will have to wait until later this week, as always."

The Raiders haven't played the Bills since whipping them 17-7 in last year's preseason finale. They beat Buffalo 28-16 during the 1972 season.

Wichita State Signs Brazilian

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Reserve Fund Has Stability, Interest

By ROGER E. SPEAR
AND DAVID R. SARGENT

Q. What do you think of Reserve Fund? S.L.

A. Recently, I visited with management at this "money market" fund and left convinced that Reserve Fund had found the magic key to prosperity in an industry beset with redemptions: exceptionally high interest rates and price stability. There are seemingly no clouds on their horizon — at least at present. Their portfolio at that time was made up of letters of credit (commerical paper) backed by big domestic banks. All told, thre were 28 banks represented, with one accounting for 10 per cent of assets, the others 1 per cent to 4 per cent. Apparently, however, some of these short-term lower-grade promissory notes have reached maturity and therefore now comprise only 80 per cent of Reserve's portfolio.

The fund, which has grown from about $400,000 to $255 million in 20 months, currently yields over 12.5 per cent on an annualized basis. The rate is high enough to indicate that some question might be raised as to portfolio quality.

Q. I hold a $13,000 interest in an estate which consists, in part, of the enclosed list of seven stocks and a mutual fund. Which of these would you retain with an emphasis on income in mind? M.O.

A. Only two of these eight holdings should be sold: R. H. Macy (NYSE) and Union Electric (HYSE). The latter company has made no real earnings progress since 1967 and a drop in net is anticipated this year. After deducting construction credits from the $1.50 estimated for 1974 earnings, the $1.28 annual dividend will not be fully covered. There have been only two dividend increases in the last eight years, and, with heavy financing required to support construction expenditures over the next 5 years, any further dividend boosts appear unlikely.

Although Macy's has expanded its suburban operations, problems at its New York store continue to depress earnings. Rising interest expenses, scattered weakness in demand and higher costs are also continuing depressants. With the prospect for earnings recovery dismal, the dividend will not likely be increased.
